Unvaxxed account for 92% deaths in India

Unvaccinated individuals accounted for 92 per cent of Covid deaths in India so far this year, the government said on Thursday. According to the Union Health Ministry, the country is in a "vaccine-protected low coronavirus phase" now and it is rational to open schools, colleges, and remove all restrictions while taking necessary precautions. High vaccination led to reduced morbidity and mortality due to Covid-19 in the recent wave, it said.

Direct talks with Putin only way to end war: Zelenskyy

Russia, Ukraine to create a humanitarian corridor to evacuate stranded people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AMID looming fears that the worst for Ukraine is yet to come, its president Volodymyr Zelenskyy sought direct talks with his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin, saying talks are the only way to end the war.

Zelenskyy's comment came soon after French President Emmanuel Macron's chilling assessment that the "worst is yet to come" for Ukraine after his 90-minute talk with Putin.

"We are not attacking Russia and we do not plan to attack it. What do you want from us? Leave our land," Zelenskyy said, addressing Putin. "Sit down with me. Just not 30 metres away like with (French President Emmanuel Macron)," the Ukrainian leader said, referring to Putin receiving world leaders at a now-famous enormously long table.

There was no immediate reaction from Putin.

Meanwhile, after a second round of talks on Thursday, Russia and Ukraine agreed to create humanitarian corridors for civilians fleeing the conflict zones. Russian negotiators said another round of talks would be held shortly.

In a major development, Russian forces captured the strategic port town of Kherson as Moscow's war entered the eighth day on Thursday.

Kherson is the first major city to fall after a three-day siege by the Russian troops left it short of food and water.

The fall of Kherson comes as Russian forces, facing fierce resistance in Kyiv and Kharkiv, made significant advances on Ukraine's southern front.

The Russian forces are now turning up the heat on Mariupol, another strategically vital port city located about 400 km east of Kherson. According to experts, it is a matter of time before Mariupol also falls as the city has been cut off from the rest of the country and is stripped of water and electricity in the midst of a harsh winter. The city's mayor claimed Russia was relentlessly bombing. "Today was the hardest, cruellest of the seven days of this war. Today they just wanted to destroy us all," he said.

Russia continued to bomb Kyiv and Kharkiv on Thursday, though Ukraine claimed it has stopped a large Russian military convoy from coming anywhere near Kyiv. P9,12

18,000 INDIANS HAVE LEFT UKRAINE: MEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

ABOUT 1,000 Indians have left Kharkiv to nearby Pisochyn after the emergency advisory by the Indian embassy in Ukraine asking citizens to leave the city, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said on Thursday. Briefing reporters, MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said the Indian side is in touch with both Ukrainian and Russian authorities to explore various ways to evacuate Indians.

"We are closely following the developments in Kharkiv, Sumy and other cities in eastern Ukraine. We are currently looking at transportation options to move them from there to western or southern Ukraine," Bagchi said.

According to MEA estimates, around 18,000 Indians have left Ukraine while 10,500 have reached India. Many of them are in countries bordering Ukraine such as Romania, Hungary and Poland.

Meanwhile, Russia has offered to evacuate Indian citizens stuck in conflict zones. Around 130 buses have already left for Kharkiv and Sumy from the Nekhoteyevka and Sudzha checkpoints in the Belgorod region, Russian media reported.

CM assures state students of safe return

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MEDICAL students from Karnataka who are stranded in war-torn Ukraine on Thursday informed Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai about the difficulties they have been facing after the Russian invasion.

Explaining their ordeal, the students informed the Chief Minister that they had to walk for over 30 km from Kharkiv to reach a safe place. During the conversation, they also requested the Chief Minister to ensure that the evacuation process is expedited.

Bommai, who heard the students' grievances, assured them of all help and efforts by the State Government to bring the stranded back home safely.

"The Karnataka government is in constant contact with the External Affairs Ministry. We will extend all cooperation for your safe return. Concerted efforts are being made," Bommai told them. Among those who spoke to the CM were Gagan Gowda and a few others.

A note from the Chief Minister's Office said around 200 students from Karnataka are in Kharkiv.

WITH the fate of thousands of medical students returning from Ukraine hanging in the balance, sources said the Centre may consider accommodating them in India's medical colleges on humanitarian grounds. According to the sources, the government's focus right now is on bringing people back from Ukraine and it will look into the matter of the students' future soon.

"We may consider their situation. It is too early to say anything. But, on humanitarian grounds, something will be done, and it should be done," a source said.

Lav Agarwal, joint secretary in the Union health ministry, said, "We will do what best can be done for people returning from Ukraine."

This comes after the National Medical Commission was petitioned by several doctors' associations to consider the future of the students. The petitioners suggested that if it is difficult to accommodate them in India, then they should be transferred to colleges in other countries under a special provision.

Roads snarl up as Cong marches on

CBD especially hit; enraged commuters argue with policemen, shout at them

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THURSDAY brought more traffic chaos to city streets as the Congress padayatra, to demand implementation of the Mekedatu project, entered its fourth and last day. The central business district (CBD) was marked by massive traffic congestion, with enraged commuters arguing with policemen and shouting at them.

The rally started from Mehkri Circle and culminated at National College Grounds. City police had placed barricades to block several busy roads. Irked by the traffic blocks, people began arguing with on-duty police personnel. Thousands of Congress party workers participated in the padayatra, resulting in traffic disruptions and chaos at major junctions. Many commuters heading to offices and schoolchildren were stuck in the traffic.

Despite elaborate security arrangements in place along with traffic diversions, many motorists, waiting in the snarls at major junctions, were infuriated, and asked Congress workers to protest in front of the CM's residence instead of blocking roads. However, Kempegowda International Airport road saw usual traffic movement, a senior police officer said. The procession moved towards Palace Road in the morning, passing through Cauvery Theatre Junction, Anand Rao Circle, Race Course Road, Chalukya Circle, Malleswaram, Chamarajpet to reach National College Grounds. About 900 policemen headed by DCP South, and nine ACPs, 16 Inspectors, 55 PSIs, 68 ASIs, 195 head constables and 469 constables were deployed on security duty.

Protest only at Freedom Park: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Taking serious note of the cascading effect of traffic jams on day-to-day activities, the Karnataka High Court on Thursday directed the State Government to ensure forthwith that no protests/processions/meetings by any political or non-political organisations, groups, etc., are held anywhere in Bengaluru except at Freedom Park, Gandhi Nagar, which is earmarked for agitation.

The court further said that protests/processions should be conducted in an organised manner so that traffic is not adversely affected, especially during rush hours.

The court noted that no such activities shall be permitted and, in case any such activities are conducted, appropriate action shall be taken and responsibility can be fixed on the authorities who are supposed to enforce proper traffic regulations, and action taken in this regard shall be reported to the court. The government was also directed to ensure the order is implemented forthwith.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice S R Krishna Kumar passed the order after hearing a suo motu PIL initiated in 2021 based on a letter written by the sitting judge of the HC with regard to the traffic in the city. The Chief Secretary, Principal Secretary to the Home Department, DG&IGP, City Police Commissioner, the BBMP commissioner and also three major political parties — the Congress, BJP and JDS — were made as respondents in the petition.

Meanwhile, the court recorded the government advocate's submission that implementation of the e-gazetted rules is already provided under Section 103 of the Karnataka Police Act and Section 188 of IPC and the jurisdictional police inspector is the competent authority to take/enforce these rules and take appropriate action in case of violation.

The government advocate told the court that there was no provision for implementation of the rules and impose penalty and a fresh order has been passed now to regulate the activity.

To beat summer heat, Bengaluru to get 25 MLD

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

Bracing itself for the steep demand in water from Bengalureans during the approaching summer, the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) will begin augmenting the Cauvery drinking water supplied to the city with an additional 25 Million Litres Per Day (MLD). At present, the city receives 1450 MLD from Cauvery river via Shiva Anaikat reservoir which is pumped from Thoraikadanahalli (TK Halli) reservoir in Mandya district to a distance of over 85km to Bengaluru.

Chief Engineer, Cauvery, BWSSB, S V Ramesh told TNIE that excess supply of water is likely to begin in a couple of days. This would be implemented by restricting water being used to generate electricity by the Shiva Hydro Power Plant run by Karnataka Power Corporation Limited (KPCL), he said.

"At present, the canal from Shiva Anaicut reservoir has water only up to a depth of 3.9 metres. This is because of water being drawn by KPCL for power generation as well as the natural process of evaporation. Today, we asked KPCL to allow 4.2 metres to 4.5 metres of water in the canal. If that is maintained, we can supply an additional 25 to 30 MLD (Million Litres per Day) of water to Bengaluru," Ramesh explained. KPCL engineers have agreed to do so, he added. Explaining the rationale behind the request made by BWSSB, the CE said the Water Board was gearing up for summer.

Experts guarded on budget expectations for city

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Urban planners and experts are divided about what the State Budget will have in store, especially for Bengaluru. While some say that it could just turn out to be old wine in new bottle — juggling of numbers, but projects remaining the same — others feel that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will be generous with announcements for Bengaluru with the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) elections in mind.

In the last year's budget, Rs 7,795 crore was allocated for the comprehensive development of Bengaluru. Experts are now demanding an audit, while questioning how much of the funds have been utilised and where.

Civic evangelist V Ravichandar said, "I expect something good for Bengaluru as the BBMP elections are round the corner. Also, just as the Union Finance Minister had announced a capitalist budget, the same can be expected from the CM also."

A senior government official said the CM is likely to make more announcements and allocate more funds for Bengaluru alone, with about 10 per cent escalation in project costs. "The government may announce many civic works for various constituencies. Stress may be on infrastructure, re-shaping and re-naming old schemes and projects. It will be an election-oriented budget as civic body elections have now become a matter of prestige, which is already facing criticism for delays," the official stated.

While experts are seeing an increase in expectations for Bengaluru, they also question how much will be implemented. They cite the example of the elevated corridor and Peripheral Ring Road which have remained on paper.

Civic expert Ashwin Mahesh said that he had given up on expectations as what is promised is not delivered. He also pointed out that the civic agencies are not capable of handling huge funds and mega projects, which is why many projects are not executed. Also, there is no priority of projects for execution, which is another issue, he noted.

March 3 is 'Vishwa Kannada Cinema Day', says Bommai at Biffes launch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday inaugurated the Bengaluru International Film Festival (BIFFes) at the Dr Babu Rajendra Prasad International Convention Centre.

The film festival would henceforth be inaugurated on March 3 every year, he said, and the day would be celebrated as 'Vishwa Kannada Cinema Day' to mark the release of the first Kannada talkie film, Sati Sulochana.

"Cinema is an extremely influential medium and Kannada cinema is vital for the growth and nurturing of Kannada language and culture. We have to resurrect theatre culture where families and friends get together to watch a film. To be at the forefront, film makers must make movies not only for entertainment but also with a good social message," Bommai said.

Actor Darshan Thoogudeepa, who released the festival brochure, Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy chairman Suneel Puranik, actress Bharathi Vishnuvardhan, director Priyadarshan and actor Puneeth Rajkumar's wife and film producer Ashwini Rajkumar were present.

The festival is organised by the Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy and will continue till March 10. Unlike previous editions, the festival will be run in hybrid mode. Besides offline screening, registered participants can also visit the festival's website - online.biffes.org. Offline screenings will take place at PVR Cinemas in Orion Mall, Dr Raj Bhavana (Kalavidara Sangha) in Chamarajpet, and Suchitra Cine Academy (Puravankara Auditorium) in Banashankari 2nd Stage.

Bommai applauded the efforts of the organisers who executed the plan in 35 days.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mars, your bold ruling planet, settles many outstanding issues by virtue of its potent relationships with your other planets. Encourage these helpful planetary aspects by adopting an approach that is calm and collected while paying due heed to your genuine emotional desires.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your determination to succeed is admirable indeed, and you should be able to steer a course which keeps you away from potential rivals or enemies. However, if battle must be joined, it looks as if a generally friendly atmosphere will still prevail in the end.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The Moon now gives you the advantage, for it obliges everyone to think like you. Those who continue with their old ways will be out-smarted by your sheer wit and instinctive grasp of the situation. But what you've really got to do is to look at the big picture.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
That rather obstreperous planet Pluto is stirring strange thoughts, vague hopes and irrational worries from the unconscious. Money could be the catalyst that causes a relationship to hit the rocks. But you could also be slightly uneasy about work.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There are few things more downcast than a bored or frustrated Leo. But with Mars and Mercury rapidly manoeuvring themselves into fresh positions, you must avoid taking your personal feelings out on other people. The fact that there may have been delays is nothing to do with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although you may believe that it is up to others to accept your proposals, the plain truth is that they are unlikely to do so. The reason may be that your ideas do not go far enough to cover all eventualities. That is not in itself a problem, but it does mean that you should cut your coat according to your cloth.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Did you know that Libra is the sign of diplomats and generals? Probably not, but the connection here is strategy. In other words, if you now have a game plan worked out in advance, and follow it through with determination, nothing will stand in your way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It definitely looks as if people you live with are in a mischievous mood. Don't take umbrage if a partner says something in jest which may be taken as offensive - it is not meant to upset. It may just be that they are currently not thinking straight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are renowned for your rapid changes of mood. Quickness to anger can also mean willingness to forgive. Now that the planets are assuming a belligerent pose, your contribution can be to see to it that old wounds play no part in current discussions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's the fact that you were born under an earth sign that makes you so wonderfully efficient. Other people don't necessarily share your talents, so even though you still feel they are letting you down or failing to pull their weight, give them the benefit of the doubt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
During the next few weeks, while the Sun is in such a civilised region of your solar chart, you must ensure that any alterations in both your earnings and joint arrangements will be to your long-term advantage. You will be no good to anybody if you're worrying about money.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Pisceans who are set to gain the most from today's uncompromising influences are those who have banded together with other people for the purposes of pursuing and fighting a matter of principle. But sometimes your greatest gift is to know exactly when to compromise.

Health may not get its due in today's budget

Brain Health, non-Covid diseases, better PHCs, more ambulances likely on menu in Bommai's maiden presentation

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

IN both years of distress during the pandemic, Karnataka managed to retain 4 per cent of its budget allocation for health. Experts opine that with this year's budget being poll-centric and the pandemic situation slowly waning, it may not be a health-centric budget, and is likely to be a tightrope walk for the health sector.

Speaking to TNIE on condition of anonymity, health department officials said the budget this year may have to be looked at as post-Covid and pre-Covid. The focus may now be more on non-Covid disorders -- mainly communicable diseases like cardiac care, cancer care and trauma care.

Free NEET counselling

"With the situation of medical students being the recent focus, this year's budget may include free NEET counselling to help students studying medicine. There may also be announcements of medical colleges in four districts," said an official.

Focus on 'Brain Health'

There may be approval for more trauma care centres in Friday's budget. 'Brain Health' has become extremely important where the focus would be on early diagnosis, prevention and treatment of headache, epilepsy, stroke and dementia, said a senior doctor. According to the doctor, there may be an announcement on opening brain health units in every PHC and district hospital for treatment within four hours of stroke etc.

24/7 model PHCs

While Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar had announced in last year's budget that 250 model primary health centres will be upgraded with the required equipment, sources said no funds were released for the same. This year, there has been a proposal not just to upgrade PHCs to 24/7 with good human resources, but also release funds to upgrade them.

More ambulances

Introducing new technology-enabled ambulances with telecentres connecting to GPRS, and a doctor or health professional to provide immediate care may be announced. Addition of new ambulances is also expected, besides cardiac and cancer care hospitals in the revenue division. A Jayadeva Hospital with 350 beds is also expected to be announced.

"We have 1,350-bed hospitals in Bengaluru, 400-bed hospitals in Mysuru, 350-bed hospitals in Kalaburagi, and we feel Hubballi can be an ideal place for another 350-bedded hospital.," Dr Manjunath CN, Director, Jayadeva Hospital, said.

There may be provisions in Ayushman Bharat Arogya Karnataka schemes. However, promised proposals like setting up of two labs to detect hereditary metabolic disorders among neonates is still on paper.

Gynaecologist to perform live keyhole surgeries

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU'S renowned laparoscopic surgeon and infertility specialist Dr Vidya V Bhat will conduct live keyhole surgeries on women patients on March 6. According to Dr Bhat, Medical Director, RadhaKrishna Multispeciality Hospital, the objective is to encourage surgeons to opt for laparoscopic surgeries for removal of uterus and uterine fibroids, due to benefits over an open abdomen surgery.

The day-long medical education workshop is being organised in partnership with Zydus Nutriva, ahead of International Women's Day. Dr Bhat will be conducting live laparoscopic hysterectomy and myomectomy surgeries, which will be broadcast live to over 3,000 gynaecologists all over India.

She said, "With advancements in medical technology, it is important that laparoscopy becomes the norm and every woman benefits due to lesser pain and wound complications, less cutting of skin and tissue, shorter duration of hospital stay and faster post-operative recovery."

She explained that the success of these advanced procedures depends on the experience and expertise of the surgeon. "The idea behind this live session is to enhance the skills of surgeons, especially young ones, so that laparoscopic surgeries become a common alternative," she said.

Man held for extorting ₹50K from woman

A senior police officer said that Prashanth was earlier arrested for committing similar offences. After he was released on bail, Prashanth had continued luring and blackmailing a woman, a resident of Seshadripuram.

He would make random calls and start chatting with gullible women. He would befriend women and use private pictures to threaten and extort money from them.

The arrested are Salman(22) and his associate Inzamam (23), both residents of Byatarayanapura. A senior police officer said that based on a complaint by Manoj TS(31), a software engineer, the police nabbed the robbers and recovered a bike and a dagger. On Tuesday night, Manoj was waiting outside a metro station when the duo attacked him.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka announced that the government will provide free tickets to Karnataka students who have returned from Ukraine to Delhi or other cities, to reach Bengaluru Airport

Poll-centric budget may focus on welfare, farmers' income

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

HOPING to strike the right balance in his maiden budget, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who also holds the Finance portfolio, will look to focus on welfare schemes, ensure economic development and financial discipline without burdening the people. He is due to present the budget on Friday afternoon.

The CM had earlier stated that his budget will focus on the overall development of the state. Bommai will be keen to make his mark by announcing welfare schemes as well as giving an impetus to irrigation, infrastructure, drinking water projects and education, sources said.

In the past few months, the government has given a lot of emphasis on implementing the Central government's ambitious Jal Jeevan Mission and announced measures to increase farmers' income, and its focus on these initiatives is likely to be reflected in the budget, sources said. In 2021, former CM BS Yediyurappa had, in his budget, allocated Rs 7,795 crore for the development of Bengaluru city. With BBMP polls likely in the next few months, Bommai is likely to announce development works and better infrastructure too. Bengaluru, that has 28 assembly constituencies, plays a major role in any assembly election.

The economy, that suffered a setback for two consecutive years, has been showing signs of recovery. There is also pressure on the CM not to hike taxes on fuel and liquor, and the CM is unlikely to announce additional tax/cess, sources said.

B T Manohar, Chairman, GST Committee, FKCCI, said, "The government might not take the risk of announcing additional taxes as everyone, including industries and commoners, suffered during the pandemic. The government's borrowings are likely to increase." Karnataka State Government Employment Association President Shadakshari said they are demanding constitution of the Pay Commission to increase state government employees' salaries on par with that of central government employees.

Make announcement on Pay Panel in budget: BSY

BENGALURU: Former CM B S Yediyurappa has urged CM Basavaraj Bommai to constitute a Pay Commission to revise the salaries of State Government employees on par with Central Government employees. Yediyurappa urged Bommai to make the announcement on constituting the Pay Commission in the State Budget. State Government employees are demanding salaries on par with Central Government staff. In the legislative session, the CM had hinted at constituting a Pay Commission. In his letter to the CM, Yediyurappa said the state revises employees' salaries once every five years and during his tenure as CM, he implemented the recommendations of 5th Pay Commission. "Like many other states, there is a need to bring Karnataka government employees' salaries on par with central government employees," he said.

Bellad faces flak for 'body' remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Dharwad

HUBBALLI-Dharwad West MLA Arvind Bellad has courted controversy, for an insensitve comment against the Haveri youth who lost his life in Ukraine recently. Bellad had told reporters that 10 people can be evacuated in a plane, in place of bringing back the body of Naveen Gyana Goudar, who was killed in reported shelling by the Russian forces at Kharkiv. This statement of Bellad was condemned by people across the board.

Speaking to reporters here on Thursday, Bellad said, "While evacuating people who are alive itself is a cumbersome exercise, bringing back a body from the conflict zone to the country is a much more difficult task. Despite all these headwinds, efforts are being made by the Ministry of External Affairs to bring back people stranded in war-hit Ukraine."

Stating that PM Narendra Modi himself is monitoring the evacuation, the MLA said Modi has spoken to the Presidents of Russia and Ukraine, to ensure safe passage for Indians stranded there. "Airlifting people from war-hit areas is challenging. As far as bringing back a body, it is quite difficult. Moreover, more people could be accommodated in the space needed for the body," he added.

In grief, Naveen's kin conduct rituals

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Chalageri (Gaveru Dt)

AMID the pain and sorrow, the family of Naveen Gyana Goudara (21), who died in a bomb blast in Kharkiv city on Tuesday, on Thursday conducted the third day religious rituals as per the traditions of the Veerashiva Lingayat community, in their house. His parents placed a garland on Naveen's photograph before the rituals began.

With chanting of prayers, milk and ghee were offered and Naveen's favourite dishes were placed before his portrait. This process is usually done at the resting place, but considering this as a special case, the rituals were done in front of Naveen's portrait.

Basava Jayamruthyunjaya Swamiji visited Naveen's residence and offered his condolences to the grieving parents Shekharappa and Vijayalakshmi, and brother Harsha. The family requested him to pressure the state and Centre to get his body at the earliest from Kharkiv. The swami termed Naveen's death "unfortunate" and requested the government to provide updates on bringing his body to India. Shekharappa told the swami that if there was equality in reservation, his son who had secured 97 per cent marks, wouldn't have gone abroad to study MBBS, and would have been safe here.

The swami said he would request CM Basavaraj Bommai to implement the demands of Panchamasalis immediately. Though the death was confirmed by the Indian Embassy, there was no clarity on when the bodywould be brought back from Kharkiv to India.

Suneha to board flight at Budapest

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Davanagere

FINALLY, the wait was over for Suneha Thippeswamy, and her friends Swarna and Rachana, who on Thursday boarded a bus to reach the Hungary border, and onward to India.

Suneha, who had first-hand experience of shelling in front of Kyiv Airport last Thursday, was about to board a flight, when air services were withdrawn from Kyiv and other cities of Ukraine. It forced the Chitradurga girl studying at Zaporizhzhia State Medical University, Zaporizhzhia, to drive to Kyiv where she had to stay in a friend's house for two days due to intense shelling.

However, Suneha took the bold decision to take the road to Uzhhorod, near the Hungary border, driving for 28 hours. There, she stayed for four days in a hotel till she got a call from the Indian Embassy to board a bus to the Hungary border. Around 9 pm Thursday (IST), she boarded the bus to Budapest to be evacuated under Operation Ganga.

Sharing details of her journey, she said, "It is an experience of a lifetime and made me strong, and also taught a lesson of how to be prepared during unwarranted emergencies like war." Throughout their journey, the girls had little food and water, and managed to catch some sleep at a fuel station. Neither did they have any currency, as ATMs had run dry. Once they reached Uzhhorod, they managed to withdraw money. "It was here that our morale rose, and we felt we had got a fresh lease of life," she said.

Suneha is happy that the Indian government has started evacuating them.

Haveri boys trek to Russian border

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH @Hubballi

DESPERATE to flee war-hit Ukraine, several medical students from Haveri district have embarked on foot to reach the Russian border. After the conflict escalated in Kharkiv and the Indian authorities sounded evacuation warnings a day earlier, the students were in no mood to take anymore risks. They started trekking from one village to another, seeking transport and trying to reach the border areas.

After Russia gave time to evacuate Ukraine's second largest city till 6 pm (local time) on Wednesday evening, three trains were arranged for those stranded. In the first train, only women were allowed; while in the second, only Ukrainians were allowed. In the third train, however, many others, including Indians, failed to get seats.

"Therefore, around 1,500 Indian students who were not unable to board trains, are heading for the Russian border as per the advisory of the Indian Embassy. Students from Haveri district are among these students, who are walking towards the border," said a parent of a stranded student.

Suman Vaishyar and Amit Vaishyar (cousins) from Chalageri, and Praveen Ajaraddy of Ranebennur from Haveri district, are among the 1,500 students, who are heading for the Russian border.

"We have walked about 20 km from Kharkiv towards the border, where there is an airport in Russia to airlift us," Amit reportedly told his father Venkatesh Vaishyar. Belgorod International Airport, located about 80 km from Kharkiv, is the nearest airport.

Some yet to find way out of Kharkiv

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Athani

THE lives of young medical students from various parts of India stranded in the middle of a warzone in Kharkiv seems to be turning from bad to worse, by every passing day. Three out of five medical students from Athani taluk have been able to escape Kharkiv, amidst continuous bombing by Russian forces, and have managed to cross the Ukrainian border, but the remaining two are still trapped in Kharkiv and its surrounding areas.

Rakshit Ravi Gani, who hails from Kottalgi village, Athani taluk, is in a helpless situation, wandering around Kharkiv and local railway stations, unable to cross the border. In a long phone conversation with his father in Athani on Thursday, Rakshit said that he has not been having proper food to eat or water to drink for the past three days in Kharkiv or at the railway station where he had been staying.

"I ate some biscuits and two slices of bread to survive a full day yesterday. Similar has been the condition of all Indian students here. As we had very little water with us, I drank merely 200 ml the entire day. I could not even relieve myself even once yesterday! With hardly anything to eat and drink, I have walked more than 13 hours (along with hundreds of Indian students) since yesterday. I am sleepless and my entire body is aching," Rakshit told his father.

After walking a long distance and reaching a railway station near Kharkiv on Thursday, he said hundreds of Indian students were denied entry into trains, even on those where their seats were reserved.

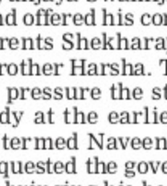
A Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority officer said 190 students from Ukraine have been evacuated, including 104 on Thursday. The process is on to evacuate another 400 students, he said. The database of stranded students has been circulated to the districts and the local administration has constituted special teams to reach out to parents, explaining the measures taken by the State and Central Governments to bring back the students. District officials have met 335 families and called up 425 families till Thursday, said Manoj Rajan, Nodal Officer and Commissioner, KSDMA.

Control room flooded with calls from parents

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

IN a bid to ensure that Indian students stranded in Ukraine are safe and their parents need not panic, the State Government has decided to send officials from the district administrations to their homes and counsel family members.



Meanwhile, following the news of the death of Naveen Shekharappa Gyana Goudar (21) from Chalageri village of Ranebennur taluk in Haveri district, distress calls from parents to the state control room have increased.

Earlier, while they used to get around 500 calls a day, in just two to three hours, it has increased by another 200.

"Parents are calling us to ask if their children are safe, have they reached a safe location to get on a bus or flight, have they found food and water; do they have a safe shelter and whether there are essential facilities nearby," narrated a staffer at the state control room.

The calls and appeals are touching.

"We feel helpless many a times. But we are doing our best. All alerts are immediately being sounded to the State Government and to the Ministry of External Affairs. Parents with choked voices repeatedly call in to ask if their children have called back and informed about their situation. Some even give us messages to pass on to their sons and daughters if and when they contact the control room," said officials at the control room.

To ensure that parents are not panic-stricken, the State Government has also directed that call details be forwarded to district administration offices, which are asking ACs and Tahsildars to visit the homes of the distressed families and counsel them.

They have been told to assure the families that all their children are safe and will be brought back safely, Manoj Rajan, nodal officer in-charge, told The New Indian Express.

"Our government is also exploring all possible ways, including the PPP model, to ensure that at least one medical college is set up in every district," Sudhakar tweeted.

Padayatra not the end, but the start of more stirs: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Mekedatu padayatra, organised by the state Congress unit to demand implementation of the drinking water project, culminated in Bengaluru, even as the party leaders vowed to launch similar movements for implementation of various other projects in different parts of the state.

The 'Namma Neeru, Namma Hakku' (our water, our right) padayatra, which started on January 9 from Kanakapura, had to be abruptly stopped four days later, amidst the rising number of Covid-19 cases. It resumed from Ramanagara on February 27 and culminated at the National College Grounds in Basavanagudi on Thursday evening, where the leaders declared that "it is not the end, but the beginning".

KPCC president D K Shivakumar criticised the BJP government, accusing it of resorting to arm-twisting tactics to stop the padayatra and alleged that calls were made from the Chief Minister's Office to film personalities, threatening them to not take part in the rally. "Despite threats like issuing notices and filing of FIRs, the people of the state walked with us, making the event a historical one. This is not the end, as we have decided to launch similar movements to seek implementation of various projects in the interest of the people in Kittur Karnataka, Kalyana Karnataka, Karavali and Malnad regions."

Congress General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala, KPCC chief DK Shivakumar and CLP leader Siddaramaiah at the padayatra in Bengaluru on Thursday | SHRIRAM BN

Admitting that the padayatra had affected traffic in Bengaluru city for three days, Shivakumar added that the implementation of the project will change the lives of people for decades to come.

Opposition leader Siddaramaiah attacked the BJP and JDS for making light comments about the padayatra. "As a matter of fact, the Mekedatu project will also benefit Tamil Nadu, as the water used to generate 400 MW electricity will flow to that state. The balancing reservoir will help Karnataka save 67.14 tmcft of water, which can be used to supply drinking water to Bengaluru, where 30 per cent of the population does not have access to Cauvery water," he said. Congress General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala alleged that the 'double engine' government had cheated the people of Karnataka and assured that the first thing Congress will do is implement the project if voted back to power.

Panelists discuss UN's role in Ukraine conflict resolution

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE ongoing Russia-Ukraine war epitomises the tragic backsliding of peace as the guiding value of international relations. At a virtual seminar organised jointly by RV University (RVU) and Rotary Club (Rotary International E Club of Bangalore 3190 District) on peace and conflict prevention and resolution, attended by academics and strategy experts from India and overseas, the panelists raised serious concerns over the mindless death, destruction and population displacement from Ukraine.

Vice-Chancellor, RVU, Dr YSR Murthy pointed out that there are significant gaps in international laws to address emerging challenges to peace and called for legal codification to address these gaps. "Cyber warfare and lethal autonomous weapons like killer robots have immense potential to derail international peace and security. There are serious gaps in the international legal framework and humanitarian laws to handle these emerging challenges," he said. He also voiced concerns about nuclear weapons landing into the hands of terrorists and non-state actors. "With some countries acquiring the technology to shoot down satellites, weaponisation of outer space is a serious challenge," said Murthy.

Chairing the first panel discussion on the role of educational institutions in promoting peace, Prof Stephen Marks from Harvard University said the Ukraine crisis reveals the "tragic backsliding of peace as the guiding value of international relations. The international system is witnessing, through the violation of the sovereignty and territorial integrity of a member state, a tragic rejection of the core understanding of peace dating back to the founding of the post WWII global system," he said.

On the role of the United Nations in prevention of conflict and ensuring global peace, former head of Peace and Security Section, United Nations University, Tokyo, Prof Vesselin Popovski said the "UN needs to focus on understanding not only the key drivers of conflicts, but also the conditions for durable peace".

AMARAVATI IS 'THE' CAPITAL, RULES AP HC

'Develop city within 6 months; Assembly has no legislative competence to pass law for change of capital or trifurcating it'

P HAREESH @ Vijayawada

THE Andhra Pradesh High Court on Thursday directed the State Government to build and develop Amaravati capital city and capital region within six months as agreed under the AP Capital Region Development Authority (APCRDA) Act and Land Pooling Rules. It said the Assembly has no "legislative competence" to pass any resolution or law for change of capital or bifurcating or trifurcating the capital city.

With this, the court has effectively pre-empted any move by the government to revive the three-capitals proposal.

Hearing a batch of pleas filed by Amaravati farmers, a three-member bench delivered its judgement. In its 307-page verdict, the bench directed the State government and the APCRDA to handover developed reconstituted plots belonging to land owners in Amaravati capital region within three months. Similarly, it ordered that the process of development and infrastructure in the Amaravati Capital City and Region providing basic amenities be completed within one month.

TDP: Big blow to '3 Capital' plan

The TDP Politburo meeting held under party supremo N Chandrababu Naidu discussed the HC's verdict and described it as a big blow to the ulterior 3 Capitals plan of the Jagan government.

Ruling that the State and APCRDA must discharge their duties enshrined under Schedule II and III and Land Pooling Rules, 2015, the bench instructed them not to alienate/mortgage or create any third party interest in the land pooled except for the construction of capital city.

The bench also directed the State and APCRDA to complete the Town Planning Schemes as per Section 61 of APCRDA Act. The bench also imposed a cost of ₹50,000 on the respondents (State government) to be payable to some of the petitioners.

The most debated part of this verdict is very likely to be the court's opinion on the Assembly's legislative competence, State's power to choose or change a capital and interpretation of the AP Reorganisation Act with regard to the capital.

KODIYERI'S REMARKS ON WOMEN TRIGGER ROW

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

MINUTES after presenting the CPM's vision for a woman-friendly Kerala at its state conference here on Thursday, party secretary Kodiyeri Balakrishnan found himself in a tight spot with a misogynist remark which has triggered a row.

Responding to a question on whether the party would reserve 50% of the seats in the state committee for women, a smiling Kodiyeri asked, "Is this question aimed at destroying this party?" Interestingly, the remark was made soon after he stated that the party intends to bring in more women to the state committee in line with its declared stance.

Kodiyeri's remarks gain significance in the backdrop of the alleged patriarchal mindset of some party members. Sources said a few woman delegates including Higher Education Minister R Bindu raised the issue of ill-treatment of women comrades by some male leaders. Woman delegates are learnt to have said that there has been no proper redressal mechanism at some units though complaints are made against such treatments. The complainants often get sidelined, the woman delegates said.

Plans afoot to place radio telescope on far side of Moon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

RAMAN Research Institute (RRI) and the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) are mulling over a plan to put a sophisticated radio telescope on the far side of the Moon to detect the elusive radio signal from the age of the universe when the first stars and galaxies were born. Dr Saurabh Singh, Research Scientist, RRI, said the far side of the Moon is known to be the "quietest" location in the solar system for radio telescopes to function to detect cosmic radio signals without any interference from terrestrial-based radio frequencies.

ISRO has funded a study conducted by the RRI to work out the feasibility of placing a radio telescope named Pratush, which is presently being built by RRI. Dr Singh said the biggest problem faced by radio signals-hunting astronomers around the world is that the cosmic signals are in the radio frequency wavelength band used by several communications equipment, TV and FM radio station, which interfere with finding genuine cosmic radio signals. This will not be the case with a radio telescope functioning in the "quiet" environs of the moon's far side which will be shielded from terrestrial radio frequency interference.

The project which is still in its nascent phase is being planned to be carried out in two phases. The first phase will see the radio telescope being tested in earth's own orbit. This will be more like a laboratory model, and will be brought down to earth after the tests to determine its functions in space.

The second phase will actually see the radio telescope being launched on board ISRO's satellite launching rockets to take Pratush into the lunar orbit and then sent down on the lunar surface on the far side of the moon, which remains hidden from the earth as the moon's rotation and revolution being the same, ensure that only one side always faces the earth. "This is only a plan at this stage, but it is being worked out. We are looking at it being launched on one of the next few ISRO missions to the moon," Dr Singh said.

Expert lists out must-dos for govt on water resources

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AHEAD of the presentation of the State Budget by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, former water resources secretary Capt Raja Rao, an authority on water resources, has listed out what needs to be done to develop Karnataka's water resources effectively and how funds should be allocated. In a letter to the CM, he has highlighted priority areas for the government in the Krishna, Cauvery, Mahadayi, Godavari, Upper Bhadra basins, the Palar and Pennar sub-basins, the Yettinahole project and the interlinking of rivers.

He said in the Krishna basin, crores of rupees have been spent on building canals, but this will serve no purpose until the project takes off. "They have to notify it in the gazette and get final clearance from the Central Water Commission before they take the next step. They should earmark funds for land acquisition, recruit adequate staff, finalise a master plan for Krishna projects," he said.

As regards the allocations for the Yettinahole project, there is no point in developing drinking water infrastructure up to Kolar and Chikkballapur until the Baragondanalalli reservoir is ready. He cautioned the government on the legal aspects of the Cauvery water dispute while referring to the need to develop the agro-economy of the river basin. "There is no point in making budgetary allocations for lift irrigation schemes in the Cauvery basin for which water is not allocated by the CWDT," he cautioned.

He suggested that Neeravari Nigams should focus on utilising allocations for developing water resources and not for building non-essential infrastructure.

TO RAISE MONEY THROUGH LIC IPO, TIMING IS KEY

The much-awaited public offer of state-run life insurer LIC of India is likely to be delayed owing to market volatility. The ongoing Russia-Ukraine war has soured investor sentiment worldwide, and in the Indian market, foreign investors have been bearish as it is. Since last October, they have been net sellers and withdrawn over ₹52,000 crore from the equity market in February alone. A firm backing of domestic and foreign institutional investors is essential, without which both credibility and confidence in the scrip will fall like gravity, going only downwards. The proposed Initial Public Offer (IPO) is the country's largest-ever public offer yet and hence getting it right is critical, not to record a hallmark moment but keeping in view retail investor interests. About 1 crore policyholders have opened demat accounts eyeing IPO subscription, which means, besides pricing, the post-listing experience should be managed well.

The proposed IPO is crucial for the government's FY22 fiscal deficit target of 6.4% of GDP and an estimated ₹63,000 crore needs to be raised. If it's postponed, the current fiscal's disinvestment targets will be squarely missed. Last month, they were sharply revised downwards from ₹1.75 lakh crore to ₹78,000 crore and the IPO delay could force the government to go hat in hand to the market. In other words, it could spike bond prices and also affect the rupee, which is already under pressure. Bond yields are also under strain from rising crude oil prices, which if they persist, may compel the government to cut fuel taxes leading to higher borrowings in FY23.

In all, the government plans to sell 5% stake hoping to rake in ₹63,000 crore, which is about 50% of the capital raised through IPOs last year. This needs substantial market liquidity, but given the prevailing uncertainty, it could end up as a juiceless pursuit. Agreed, the government has vowed to list LIC within this fiscal, but timing is everything and if one could achieve success by missing a set deadline, so be it.

BUILD SMART CITIES, BUT ROOT OUT GRAFT

A single-member panel formed by the Tamil Nadu government to probe implementation of the Smart Cities Mission (SCM) projects is likely to submit a report in three months. Serious charges of irregularities and corruption during the previous regime had forced the Stalin government to pause and initiate a course correction.

The project, financing of which is done equally by the Centre and state governments, was flagged off in June 2015, but faced several challenges, the latest being the Covid-19 pandemic. The implementation deadline was extended to June 2023. The Centre had chosen 100 smart cities, with TN topping the chart with 11 cities. The objective of the mission is to provide core infrastructure and enhance the quality of life of citizens. Projects under SCM ranged from water supply to solid waste management, and roads and housing. In TN, a lot of money has already been ploughed into SCM projects. While the Centre sanctioned ₹5,390 crore and released ₹3,969 crore, the TN government sanctioned ₹5,500 crore and released another ₹4,000 crore. But the projects faced several roadblocks. Beyond the serious charges of corruption at various levels of administration, there were management-related issues such as non-existence of advisory forums and the absence of chief executives. Even Chennai and Coimbatore, which were chosen in the first round, are nowhere near completion. According to data provided by Lok Sabha in March 2020, both cities have completed a shade below 50% of the projects, while other places are lagging far behind.

A major grouse was that before carrying out the projects, the authorities failed to take the people on board. Chennai had laid a smart footpath in T Nagar, but the area gets inundated in rains. What T Nagar needed was stormwater drains. Similarly, people on ECR are demanding drainage facilities while the corporation constructs stormwater drains that in turn affect water aquifers in the area and prevent natural draining of floodwater. The panel report will help the government to start afresh, with basic infrastructure and quick implementation being given priority.

In the current setting, the hijab and the saffron shawl, which were benign religious symbols, became instruments of protest. Their meanings and signification altered

THE MANY SYMBOLS OF RELIGION AND RESISTANCE

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU
Senior journalist and author

SOUMYADIP SINHA

When the hijab controversy broke a few weeks ago and spread with speed to different bends and corners of the country, it suddenly made us aware of something that we often overlook—that we are surrounded by symbols of all kinds. It is not just religious symbols, but a plethora of linguistic, class, caste, cultural, civic, cinematic and literary symbols that confront us at every step. They negotiate and ritualise life for us. This should make us wonder if society is about constantly producing symbols and their signification.

There is a 'Dictionary of Symbols' that British psychologist Tom Chetwynd brought out in the early 1980s. Chetwynd in his entry on 'religious symbolism' says that "differences in religion arise from differences in symbolism". The differences we saw in the hijab controversy were also differences caused by symbols and amplified by colours—black and saffron. Although hijabs worn by young Muslim women were multi-coloured, black was the colour that came to symbolise them because it was seen as an extension of their other garment—the burqa. It became a convenient visual idea for the media and public. Interestingly, as the controversy grew, the colours of the garments became colours of resistance.

Resistances always seek powerful symbols. For instance, during the freedom movement, the 'Gandhi cap' became a symbol of non-violent resistance. It came to signify swadeshi ideas. The khadi cloth that it was made of too became a powerful symbol of a protest culture in a colonial setting. The charka, which made the yarn and sat on the Congress flag, itself emerged as a great symbol of resistance. The cap, the khadi and the charka were all interlinked to an economy of self-reliance.

At several points, the British government tried to ban the 'Gandhi cap' but the more they tried to do it, the more it became an accepted uniform of a Congress worker. Gandhi was a master of inventing nationalist symbols. Of course, the anti-corruption movement around 2011 appropriated the Gandhi cap just like the Modi establishment later appropriated the 'Nehru jacket' with minor design changes and flashy colours. For a new generation, which had little memory of the 'Nehru jacket', almost overnight it became the 'Modi jacket'. We often say that Modi's BJP appropriated great icons of the freedom movement and isolated Jawaharlal Nehru. But the truth is they appropriated Nehru too in a small measure via the jacket. The 'Nehru jacket' had taken the fancy of the nationalist elite during pre-Independence struggles, and of the liberal elite in post-Independent India, but for the millennials it became the 'Modi jacket'.

In the current setting, the hijab and the saffron shawl, which to begin with were benign religious symbols, became instruments of protest. Their meanings and signification altered. The hijab, which until then mutedly symbolised Muslim patriarchy and conservatism, ironically, became a symbol of resistance that wove multiple threads of freedom. In solidarity, many non-Muslim women covered their heads with hijab, photographed themselves and posted it on social media. Similarly, a piece of saffron garment of the priestly class among Hindus has for decades now been turned into a symbol of majoritarian assertion.

Even as we debate inter-faith religious symbols and how they come face to face in a charged political milieu, it would be interesting to step back from these binaries to realise that even within Hindus, there are symbols that confront each other. For instance, the variety of Vaishnavite 'namam' that people wear on their foreheads to denote their respective sects has often clashed with the holy ash of the Shaivites that is simply smeared on the forehead. Hindutva ideology of course tries to ignore these diverse symbols that are deeply contested for centuries. It presents a unified picture of a political Hindu and struggles to manufacture for the ballot box a homogeneity that does not really exist.

> The hijab, which mutedly symbolised Muslim patriarchy and conservatism, ironically, became a symbol of resistance that wove multiple threads of freedom. In solidarity, many non-Muslim women covered their heads with hijab, photographed themselves and posted it on social media

Inter-faith and intra-faith differences get much attention but there is such diversity that intra-sect differences have seen a clash of symbols too in recent times. In fact, the difference of symbols that denote the multiple philosophical heritages within sects are far keenly contested. When Prime Minister Modi recently visited Hyderabad to inaugurate the 216-feet statue of 11th century Vaishnavite saint, Ramanujacharya, Modi's flowing silk outfit drew a lot of attention, but none asked if he was wearing a Thengalai namam or Vadagalai namam on the occasion. Because this has been a serious source of dispute between the two eponymous Vaishnavite sects. From television images it appeared he was sporting a Thengalai namam, that has a Y-shaped feel with a red line in the middle.

The dispute between these two forehead appellations among Vaishnavite followers has a history of nearly 250 years. In 1978, the Chief Justice of the Madras High Court, P S Kailasam, deliberated the case that had been fought in the lower courts since 1965 and earlier too in British India. Outlining the ritualistic divergences between the two sects, Justice Kailasam had said, "It has given rise to the most bitter, unreasonable and vicious fight between the two groups for nearly 200 years."

The case before Madras High Court was to decide if the new temple elephant of the Sri Devaraja Swami Temple in Kanchipuram had to sport the Thengalai namam, which was the age-old custom, or wear the Vadagalai namam because the deceased temple elephant had sported it. The dead elephant had done so in temple service because its donor, the Maharaja of Travancore, had put a condition that it should sport only the U-shaped namam with a yellow line in the middle. Even after the lower court had restored the Thengalai namam, the other sect had tried to sabotage the effort and attracted the court's contempt: "In the narration of the history of the litigation subsequent A.S. No. 13 of 1854, we have seen that the Vadagalai sect was most reluctant to accept the decision of the courts," the judgment records.

Finally, the judgment concluded that it was not the whole Vadagalai sect that was causing the problem, but a small influential minority (in the case of the hijab and the saffron shawl too, could it be a small influential minority in each of the faiths provoking an altercation?). Even as late as June 2015, it was reported that a senior priest in the Tirupati Tirumala temple was suspended because he put the Thengalai namam instead of the Vadagalai one on the deity.

MR Sivaraman was Director General of Civil Aviation in 1990 and had submitted his enquiry report on the Airbus A320 crash in Bangalore in February 1990. The Airbus 320 aircraft had been grounded by the then government of V P Singh, who suspected corruption in the deal. Sivaraman had cleared the aircraft to fly, as Indian Airlines was incurring huge unsustainable losses.

Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait on 2 August 1990. Thousands of Indians working in Kuwait were in panic and naturally wanted to return home. They had moved to Dubai to take a flight back home. On or around 13 August 1990, Ganesan, Secretary, Department of Civil Aviation, telephoned Sivaraman around 10 am in his office and asked him to take an Airbus 320 to Kuwait from Mumbai and bring back the first batch of Indians. Ganesan asked Sivaraman to leave from the office straight to the airport so as to catch the flight departing from Mumbai immediately. Sivaraman told Ganesan that he had no passport in his office or visa to enter Dubai. Ganesan told Sivaraman to stay on board and receive the Indians and assure them that he would take them home safely. Captain Deo was waiting for Sivaraman to take off to Dubai. That was the first passenger flight of the Airbus 320 after its crash in Bangalore.

In three hours, Sivaraman reached Dubai. Legally Sivaraman was an outlaw and an authorised stow away. Captain Deo entered the airport and informed Mascarenhas, Air India representative, that Sivaraman was on board, without any document, to accompany the first batch of Indians. Mascarenhas, on being told that the DGCA India was on board, informed the DGCA Dubai, who immediately went to the aircraft and escorted Sivaraman into the airport where the milling Indians were there waiting to board the first flight home. Sivaraman addressed the first batch of Indians and assured all of them that they would be safely taken to India. Such an assurance was essential because some of the passengers might have been thinking that they were flying by an aircraft that had been grounded for about six months after a fatal accident. Several hundred flights were arranged and 1,70,000 Indians were safely brought home. It was the largest air evacuation since the Berlin airlift during the Second World War, an exemplary achievement in the history of Indian aviation.

Prof V Suryanarayan, who was at that time associated with the University of Madras, was pleading through his speeches and writings that India should have made use of the opportunity to evacuate the stranded Bangladeshis, Sri Lankans and Nepalese. In a meeting in New Delhi, a senior official from the Government of India responded that by diverting the aircrafts, India was losing millions of rupees every day. Suryanarayan replied that the goodwill that India would have earned by such a timely gesture will far outweigh the financial losses.

> Several hundred flights were arranged and 1,70,000 Indians were safely brought home after Saddam invaded Kuwait in 1990. It was the largest air evacuation since the Berlin airlift during World War 2. ... Ukraine is a more difficult place than Kuwait. But India should rise to the occasion and assist citizens of neighbouring countries too to return to their homeland

New Delhi made amends when it assisted citizens of neighbouring countries when it undertook airlift operations in 2019 consequent to China shutting down its airports when the Covid outbreak took place.

Ukraine is a more difficult place than Kuwait and Dubai. But New Delhi should rise to the occasion and assist citizens of neighbouring countries too to return to their homeland. New Delhi should coordinate its air operations with those neighbouring countries and request the stranded people to assemble in one place. Road and air transport could be provided to them. Let us remember that a friend in need is a friend indeed.

The latest news from Ukraine does not give an optimistic picture of a return to peace. On March 1, an Indian medical student was killed when he went out to buy food and the Russian shells began to explode. According to Indian students who spoke to TV channels, there is no electricity, water has become scarce and food stocks are getting depleted. The international community should rise to the occasion and compel the UN to airlift food, water and medicines so that the essentials of life are provided to the unfortunate people of Ukraine. On India's part, its top priority should be to get a ceasefire declared by the warring sides so that all those who want to leave Ukraine could do so.

The international community can ill afford a deadly war that can spread to other parts of the world. Let not posterity judge that another chance for bringing about peace and reconciliation was missed by all sides. As Maya Angelou, the American poet, wrote a few years ago: "History, despite its wrenching pain, cannot be unlived. But if faced with courage, need not be lived again."

Govt doing its best

The Indian government is doing its best in evacuating students from Ukraine. With fierce war raging there, it is not an easy task as seen from the fact that many developed nations have left their citizens in Ukraine to fend for themselves. The sincerity of the Indian government in its efforts is clearly illustrated by its despatch of senior ministers for the rescue operations. The opposition will do well to support the government rather than trying to score brownie points over a humanitarian crisis.

C-17 in Operation Ganga

The government deserves praise for involving the IAF in Operation Ganga. As the IAF is using C-17 aircraft, the operation is likely to be quick. The C-17 transport birds are known for their heavy lifting capacity and can fly non-stop for long distances.

Helplines for the elderly

This is with reference to Why should ageing be shadowed by fear? (Mar 3). The author pointed out the various apprehensions that the elders have. Governments should not look at the issue only from the economic perspective. Financial stability alone won't be of help to elders who are dealing with fears and social stigma. A toll-free helpline for the elderly can be installed in every district.

They care about people

Both the chief ministers of Bengal and Odisha are famous for their meticulous planning to sweep polls (Editorial, Mar 3). Where one is a firebrand, the other is a suave and silent strategist. However, they both care about the welfare of the people, which is paramount in democracy. And that's why they repeatedly win elections.

This is with reference to The prohibitive cost of private medical education in India (Mar 3). When there is a lot of demand for doctors, it is necessary to provide quality medical education at affordable cost. Private colleges should be helped by the government with strict monitoring of fee structure. Hidden charges in private colleges are a big burden to students.

Delay in launch of evacuation, growing Russia-China camaraderie come up for discussion at Parl panel meeting

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE government's efforts to evacuate Indians from Ukraine received unanimous support at the Consultative Committee on External Affairs even as some opposition MPs questioned the delay in launching the operation and expressed concern about the growing Russia-China proximity and its impact on India.

At the meeting chaired by External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla briefed the committee members on the government's efforts for evacuation of Indians stranded in war-hit Ukraine. Nine MPs from six political parties attended the meeting.

''Just completed an MEA consultative committee meeting on developments in Ukraine. A good discussion on the strategic and humanitarian aspects of the issue. Strong and unanimous message of support for efforts to bring back all Indians from Ukraine,'' Jaishankar tweeted.

RJD leader Prem Chand Gupta and Shiv Sena MP Priyanka Chaturvedi leave after attending the meeting in New Delhi on Thursday | SHEKHAR YADAV

Congress MPs, including Rahul Gandhi, who attended the meeting said that the government did not take effective steps on time regarding students stranded in Ukraine and that India should have acted more quickly to evacuate the stranded people. ''Initially, advisories were not clear but confusing, and that students decided to stay back. Government should have used India's goodwill to mediate between Russia and Ukraine so that the violence would have stopped,'' sources said, quoting the MPs.

In a war, Rahul said, the country cannot adopt the partisan approach and should remain neutral to ensure safe passage. He also expressed concern over the growing China Russia proximity and the geopolitical effect on the LAC.

Some of the MPs talked about the lower number of flights available in Ukraine at the beginning, which, they said, lead to an increase in fares.

''Frank discussions took place in an amicable atmosphere, a reminder that when it comes to national interests we are all Indians first and foremost. We urged MEA to issue a more detailed statement than usual,'' tweeted Congress MP Shashi Tharoor.

Shiv Sena MP Priyanka Chaturvedi said all stand united in the efforts to bring our students back home.

Diplomacy paves way for evacuation

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

CAUGHT between the two Cold War era superpowers, India has had to do a delicate balancing act so as not to annoy either side. However, with thousands of Indian students trapped in the war-torn Ukraine, the government had to turn to Russia for their safe evacuation.

Despite facing intense pressure from the US to vote against Russia, India once again abstained on a UN General Assembly resolution that deplored Russia's aggression on Wednesday. It had twice earlier abstained from voting against Russia in the UN Security Council. It is India's decision to abstain that has facilitated evacuation of its nationals stranded in Ukraine, according to sources. More than 60 per cent Indians are now out of Ukraine. And if the evacuation process goes as per plan, then most should be out before the end of this week, sources said.

PM Narendra Modi has had two telephonic exchanges with Russian President Vladimir Putin since February 24, with safe passage to Indians being his main concern, besides de-escalation of the hostilities.

In his explanation of vote, India's Permanent Representative to the UN T S Tirumurthi said, "We demand safe and uninterrupted passage for all Indian nationals, who are stranded in Ukraine, particularly Kharkhiv and other cities. We have reiterated this demand to both the Russian Federation and Ukraine. This remains our foremost priority."

Can we ask Putin to stop the war? CJI to advocate

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Thursday asked Attorney General KK Venugopal to use his office in helping evacuate some Indian medical students stranded in Ukraine.

A bench headed by CJI NV Ramana took note of the submissions of a senior advocate that several students are stuck near the Romanian border in freezing cold and the government is not running flights from Romania.

"Flights are being operated from Poland and Hungary and not from Romania. The students, which also included many girls, are stuck without any facility," senior advocate AM Dar told the bench, also comprising Justices AS Bopanna and Hima Kohli.

"What can the Court do? Can I give directions to the President of Russia to stop the war?. On social media, I saw some videos," the CJI remarked.

It later asked Venugopal to consider extending help to the stranded students.

Dar pointed out that most of the students were girls and they were suffering in freezing temperatures. He added around 30 girl students are stuck at the Ukranian border for about six days without food. ENS

Gurdwaras, temples in Poland reach out to tired students

ANKITA UPADHYAY @ New Delhi

GURDWARAS and temples in Warsaw are coming out with food and shelter to help the stream of tired Indian students reaching Poland en route their journey back home.

Some are extending their humanitarian services to Ukrainians trying to escape the Russian advancement.

According to JJ Singh, a senior administration officer of the gurdwara in Warsaw, everyday around 100-300 students are crossing the border daily. "Many of them have taken shelter in the gurdwara where food, water and blankets have been provided to them along with space to sleep," he added.

Many of the students had not eaten enough after waiting for days at the Ukraine-Poland borders and were only surviving on dry fruits and biscuits, said one of the volunteers working with the langar committee. "We have designated teams who are taking care of these students," he added.

Union Minister VK Singh also met with the gurdwara volunteers to take stock of the preparations and to appreciate the laudable gesture.

Not only this, the temple in Warsaw has also extended support for the students in Warsaw, informed Singh. "Several students have also decided to stay back in Europe and live with their relatives in different countries. We are also helping them arrange papers."

The gurdwara has also extended its support to the Ukrainians who are fleeing their war-torn country.

According to Hemkunt Foundation director Harteerath Singh, efforts are being made to coordinate with gurdwaras in Hungary and Romania as well to provide food and shelter for those fleeing Ukraine. "I am trying to get in touch with gurdwaras in these countries but the problem is that these gurudwaras are run by old people. Unless, the youths come and volunteer, nothing much can happen," he asserted.

Harteerath informed that langar will also be served on trains coming from Ukraine. "Sewa is the core for us. Langar is being served on trains in Ukraine which are going to neighbouring borders."

Meanwhile, Indians with resorts and hotels have opened the gates of their properties for the students coming. One of them is Vijay Kumar, owner of a resort in Poland which is 30 km away from the Ukraine border. He says that even though he has asked his staff to take care of the students coming in, not many have arrived.

No student held hostage: MEA

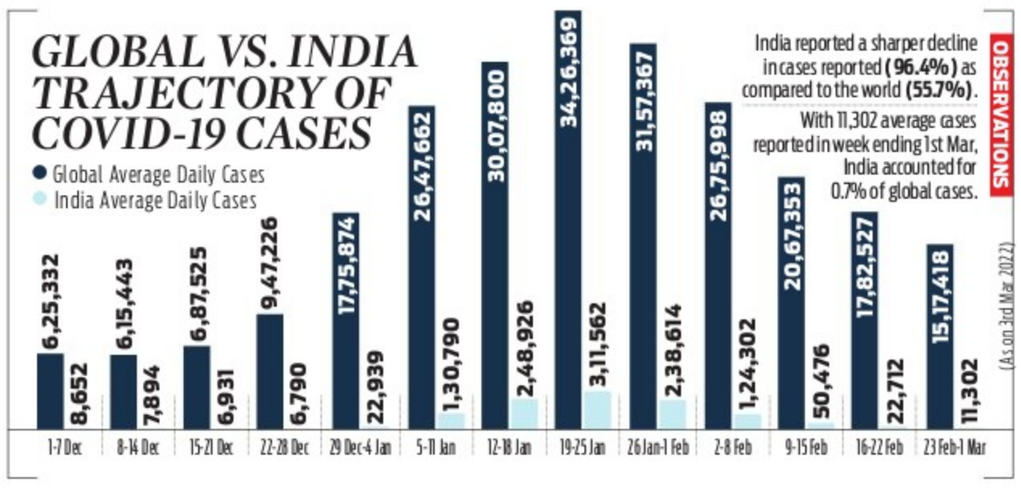
New Delhi: India said it has not received any report of a hostage situation involving Indian students in Kharkiv and that it has requested the support of Ukraine in arranging special trains for taking them out from the city. The comments came hours after Russia claimed that some Indian students were "actually taken hostage" by Ukrainian forces, who use them as a "human shield" and in every possible way prevent them from leaving.

'Time for PM to show his mettle'

New Delhi: It is the right time for India to step in as a mediator to end the military conflict, senior TMC leader Yashwant Sinha said. "Our PM often boasts of making the country 'vishwaguru'. Now is the time for Modi to show the potential of becoming vishwaguru." As for India abstain from voting against Russia in the UNSC, Sinha said such 'imprudent' decision of the Modi government may isolate the country during challenging times in future.

Rising costs hurt pharma firms

Dehradun: The war in Ukraine has led to 10-20% increase in raw materials and packaging material causing distress in the pharma sector of Uttarakhand, said various stakeholders. "Most of the materials come from Russia, Ukraine and nine member countries of Commonwealth of Independent States. Most of these countries were part of the former Soviet Union," said Anil Sharma, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of Uttarakhand. While the cost of aluminium foil used for packaging was ₹335 per kg, its price has shot up to ₹470 per kg. Similarly, the raw material for paracetamol is now ₹450 per kg, up from ₹395 per kg.



Indo-Pacific region, Ukraine in PM's Quad speech

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday underlined that the Quad must remain focused on its objective of promoting peace and prosperity in the Indo-Pacific region.

At a virtual meeting attended by US President Joe Biden and the prime ministers of Australia and Japan, Modi called for concrete cooperation within Quad, in areas like humanitarian and disaster relief, debt sustainability, supply chains and capacity-building.

As the meeting took place in the backdrop of the Russian aggression against Ukraine, Modi emphasised the need to go back to dialogue and diplomacy.

Developments in Ukraine were discussed in the meeting, including its humanitarian implications, the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) said in a release.

Apart from the Ukarine crisis, the Quad leaders discussed issues including developments in Asean, Indian Ocean region and the Pacific islands, the release added.

In March last year, Biden hosted the first-ever summit of the Quad leaders in the virtual format that was followed by an in-person summit in Washington in September for which Prime Minister Modi had travelled to the US.

The leaders agreed to stay in touch and to work towards an ambitious agenda for the forthcoming Leaders' Summit in Japan, the PMO statement added.

Earlier in the day, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) had said the leaders will exchange views and assessments about important developments in the Indo-Pacific. "Prime Minister Narendra Modi will participate along with President of US Joseph R Biden, Prime Minister of Australia Scott Morrison, and Prime Minister of Japan Fumio Kishida in a Quad Leaders' virtual meeting on March 3," it had said .

The grouping of four countries has been focusing on cooperation in areas such as producing vaccines, connectivity projects, facilitating the mobility of students, and looking at promoting startups and technology collaboration.

The Quad foreign ministers had held extensive talks in Melbourne last month. ENS

Centre asks states not to waste vax

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE central government has written to all states and union territories asking them to ensure that vaccine in government and private Covid Vaccination Centres (CVCs) were not wasted.

It also said that the states should "swap near expiry vials with long expiry ones" so that the vaccines are not wasted.

"This is in reference to the issue of near expiry COVID vaccines available at private CVCs. Earlier also directions have been issued to specific States of West Bengal, Karnataka, Kerala and Maharashtra," Vikas Sheel, additional secretary, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, said in a letter.

"It is reiterated that the Health ministry has no objection for the states/UTs to consider the near expiry vaccine vials of private CVCs with long expiry vaccine vials available with government CVCs after due diligence. Kindly ensure that no vials of COVID vaccine in government CVCs as well as in private CVCs should be wasted. The provision of entry of these exchanged vaccines is available in CoWIN," he said.

The ministry had earlier communicated to all the states to carry out regular review on the status of Covid vaccines if available with the private CVCs within the states/UTs and is expected to expire in the coming months.

As reported by this newspaper, medium and large-sized hospitals had sought the central government's help in urgently acquiring a large quantity of Covid vaccine doses stocked with them which were to expire by March.

Moderate polling in UP sixth round

Barring Yogi's Gorakhpur fort, no major change in voting trend in eastern UP constituencies

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

A total of 57 constituencies across 10 districts covering the religio-political belt of UP from Ambedkarnagar in central region to Gorakhpur and Kushinagar in the far-east bordering Bihar and Nepal recorded a moderate — 55.79% — polling in the penultimate phase of ongoing 7-phased UP Assembly election on Thursday.

However, the voting continued till 6pm and the final figures of will be revised by the EC on Friday.

After phase -6, voting for 292 of the 403 Assembly seats has been completed. The final phase of polling in the remaining 54 seats across seven districts, including Varanasi, will be held on March 7.

The bigwigs whose fate was sealed in phase-6 included UP CM Yogi Adityanath who made his debut in Assembly electoral politics from Gorakhpur Urban, BJP deserter Swami Prasad Maurya from Fazilnagar in Kushinagar, leader of opposition in the Assembly Ram Govind Chaudhury of SP from Bansdih and UP Congress chief Ajay Kumar Lallu from Tamkuhiraj in Kushinagar. Besides the fate of seven Yogi ministers was also at stake in this phase.

The turn out in the sixth phase has been slightly lower that of the corresponding phase of the 2017 polls (55.52%).

In phase-6, fate of 676 candidates was sealed in the EVMs. Around 2.14 crore voters were eligible to cast their vote.

The trend of voting in phase-6 was in consonance with the corresponding phase in the 2017 polls. While Ambedkarnagar recorded the highest 62.66% turnout, Balrampur logged the lowest count at 48.90%. In 2017, Ambedkarnagar had registered 64.05% voting and Balrampur was at bottom with 50.91%.

Ambedkarnagar was considered to be a BSP bastion when the party had won three out of five seats in 2017. However, this time, it would be interesting to see how the party fares on March 10 as its stalwartssuch as Lalaji Verma, Ram Achal Rajbhar and Tribhuvan Dutt are contesting on SP ticket.

The district which stood out was Gorakhpur where 58.89% voters turned up, surpassing the 55.44% polling recorded in the 2017 election.

UP battle tough but khela hoga, says Didi in Modi's fortress

VARANASI: A day after she was stopped by and shown black flags by BJP workers in PM Modi's parliamentary constituency Varanasi, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamta Banerjee on Thursday made it clear that she won't be cowed down by such incidents as she is a "fighter and not a coward".

Addressing a mega gathering of the Samajwadi Party-led alliance in a village on Varanasi's outskirts, Banerjee said, "They (BJP cadres) don't know that I don't get cowed down. I've been attacked by CPI(M) people many times in the past. Bullets too have been fired at me in the past, but I've remained fearless. I'm not a coward, but a fighter."

The TMC chief said the "attack" on her was a sign that the saffron party was losing in the UP polls. "I thank the brainless BJP men for Wednesday's developments, as it has sent a clear message that the BJP is losing. Do whatever you want to do, I'll keep coming to UP and Varanasi not once, but a thousand times in future."

While lashing out at UP CM Yogi Adityanath, the West Bengal CM said, "don't do extreme gundagardi (hooliganism) with me, you are not a saint, but an insult in the name of saint. The UP CM is not a yogi but instead a bhogi. Voting for Akhilesh Yadav in this UP election will ensure that UP has improved ties with Bengal in future."

She further said she had no objections to Jai Siya Ram slogan, but didn't believe in Jai Sri Ram slogans, as the "true slogan is Jai Siya Ram that encompasses the name of Sita Mata also". "I'm a worshipper of Durga, the same Goddess who was worshipped by Lord Ram."

"It's not so easy, khela hoga," she said, referring to the Hindi variation of the Bangla phrase which was the election motto of TMC in Bengal. ENS

Poll violence continues in Manipur, EC announces re-polling in 12 places

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

MANIPUR continues to be hit by election-related violence. The supporters of ruling BJP and opposition Congress clashed in the Sugnu constituency on Wednesday night.

Violence broke out at Kakching Khunou when a large number of alleged BJP supporters attacked a camp of the Congress. The Congress said the attacks were an indication it was returning to power.

"The violent attack on Congress supporters at Sugnu and many other Assembly constituencies is a clear indication of the rise of Congress in Manipur," state Congress spokesperson Ningombam Bupenda Meitei told this newspaper. "People are bringing back Congress government in Manipur on March 10," Meitei said.

Calls made to BJP's state president A Sharda Devi went unanswered.

Meanwhile, the Election Commission on Thursday ordered re-polling in 12 polling stations under five Assembly seats in Churachandpur, Imphal East and Kangpokpi districts. The re-polling will be held on March 5.

Earlier, the ruling BJP as well as opposition parties had accused each other of using militants to capture polling booths and intimidate voters.

The non-BJP candidates of Henglep seat had jointly moved the EC alleging that the militants captured polling booths at the behest of ruling BJP. Congress, NPP, JD (U) and Shiv Sena candidates accused some Kuki outfits, which had signed separate suspension of operation (Soo) agreements with the government earlier, of interfering in the poll process.

Similarly, the BJP had petitioned the EC demanding repoll in 23 polling stations alleging that insurgent groups National Socialist Council of Nagalim or NSCN-IM and some other rebel groups, which signed separate Soo agreements with the government, captured polling booths during the first phase elections.

BJP paid ₹16 cr to militants in Manipur: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE Congress on Thursday claimed Manipur's BJP-led government paid over ₹16 crore to some militant groups in violation of model code of conduct to ensure the party retains power in the state.

"In a flagrant violation of the Election Commission of India's model code of conduct, Manipur government released ₹15,70,32,000 to banned militant groups under suspension of operation (Soo) on 1/2/2022 and another ₹92,65,950 on 1/3/2022. These payments have been released by the Home Ministry and made by the state government," Congress leader Jairam Ramesh said. He said the payments "ensured" the first phase elections in Churachandpur and Kangpokpi districts on February 28 were not free, fair and peaceful.

He accused the BJP of "buying elections in Manipur, spreading fear, intimidating voters and indulging in corruption to remain in power".

Amid poll schedule, Modi interacts with students returned from Ukraine

Lucknow: PM Narendra Modi on Thursday wrapped up his hectic day in Uttar Pradesh after addressing two poll rallies in Jaunpur and Chandauli by interacting with a group of students who recently returned to various parts of the state from the war-torn Ukraine. The PM met the students at Lal Bahadur Shastri Airport in Varanasi in the evening. The students also shared how they experienced the power of Tricolour. "As we were getting special treatment by Ukrainian forces, the students from Pakistan, Turkey, Nigeria and many other countries also mounted Indian flag on their buses so that they could reach borders safely," they said. "Only in death will I be separated from Banaras... I'm proud of Banaras and have full trust in its people. I would be luckiest if I die while serving Banaras," the galvanising speech of PM Narendra Modi on Sunday has not only energised the party workers but also the residents of this ancient city.

Four days later, the people of Varanasi are waiting for the PM to aggressively campaign for BJP candidates over the next two days on all eight seats which were won by the party in 2017.

One important question crisscrossing the minds of the residents is, what will finally prevail, the popularity of Modi or the anti-incumbency against most of the sitting MLAs?

Rajesh Gupta, a middle-aged book shop owner, says: "We love Modi*ji* and can give our lives for him, but can't say so for most of the sitting BJP MLAs. If Modi*ji* doesn't come and campaign here, barring two to three candidates, none will win. It's sad that even after ushering in development in our city, the PM has to work hard for the victory of his party candidates, most of whom should have ideally been replaced."

Just a short distance away at Sonarpura crossing, roadside fruit seller Babloo Sonkar, too, is a proud Modi backer. "Modi*ji* is our hero, my kids who go to English school love him as their grandpa. But we don't have any faith in the BJP candidates, particularly sitting MLA from Varanasi South Neelkanth Tiwari."

But with Modi now set to campaign for the BJP candidates in Varanasi, many residents say they will vote for the saffron party.

"We might be dejected with sitting MLAs, but that doesn't mean we will vote against the BJP. We will finally vote for Modi*ji* and BJP only," said DK Pal, a Bengali man living in Shivala locality.

Matuas abandon BJP in civic polls

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

AFTER enjoying en bloc support of Matuas in the previous two elections, the BJP received a massive set back in the strongholds of the Hindu refugees from Bangladesh in the just concluded civic polls.

The saffron camp failed to win even a single civic body which is located in the Lok Sabha constituencies won by the BJP in 2019.

Matua leaders of the BJP, including Union minister Shantanu Thakur, had expressed discontent over the Centre not implementing the contentious CAA. The poor show of the saffron camp is said to be a reflection of Matua discontent.

In the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, the BJP had secured lead in 21 out of 22 seats of Bongaon municipality which falls under Thakur's Lok Sabha constituency. In the last year's Assembly polls, the BJP had bagged all four constituencies dominated by the Matuas in Bongaon Lok Sabha seat. But in the civic polls, BJP won only one seat in Bongaon civic body while the TMC secured victory in 19 seats.

Malik's ED custody extended till March 7

Mumbai: A special PMLA court here extended the custody of Maharashtra cabinet minister Nawab Malik with the Enforcement Directorate till March 7. Malik was arrested by the central agency on February 23 for alleged money laundering and property deals with family members of fugitive gangster Dawood Ibrahim. The court had initially remanded him to ED's custody till March 3.

Maha Guv leaves stormy House session

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE budget session of Maharashtra Assembly began on a stormy note with Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari leaving the House without completing his address to the joint session amid unprecedented chaos and sloganeering by both Opposition and treasury benches.

As soon as the governor started his speech, ruling Maha Vikas Aghadi MLAs started shouting against him for his comments on Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj and Mahatma Phule. BJP MLAs, on the other hand, started demanding resignation of minister Nawab Malik in connection with his property transaction allegedly linked to the 'D-Company'.

State Congress president Nana Patole later said Koshyari had no moral right to remain at his position. NCP state unit chief Jayant Patil said the governor "left the House when the national anthem was on".

The Leader of Opposition Devendra Fadnavis countered that it had never happened that a minister who is in jail on serious charges had not been sacked.

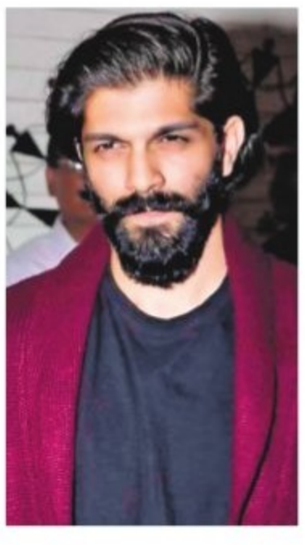
Rise of another Thackeray in Maharashtra politics



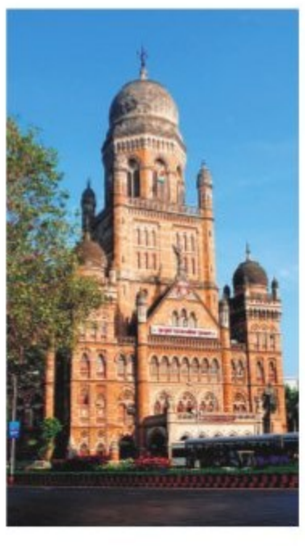
Amit Thackeray, son of Maharashtra Navnirman Sena president Raj Thackeray, has been appointed as the president of MNS students' wing. Amit has been meeting party workers and trying understand the issues faced by the party. Amit is known as a good football player and an avid reader. Shiv Sena leader Aaditya Thackeray has been giving a modern look to the Sena and now it will be interesting to see how Amit moulds and shapes his father's political outfit which is going through a bad phase. Despite being a good orator, Raj Thackeray could not impress upon Maharashtra voters in previous elections as his crowd-pulling rallies failed to convert into votes.

Pawar, Uddhav cautious towards Centre's moves

The Maha Vikas Aghadi is playing it safe even though its two ministers are behind the bar and a few others are likely to face similar fate. NCP chief Sharad Pawar and Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray do not want to play into the hands of the BJP. If Maha Vikas Aghadi starts reciprocating the BJP-run central government's probe agencies, it may lead to major conflict between the central and state agencies. MVA leaders believe the BJP may use this 'fabricated conflict' to show a constitutional crisis and impose the President's Rule in the state. The saffron party used every trick in the book but failed to topple the Maha Vikas Aghadi therefore its last resort could be President's Rule. However, many in the MVA believe that BJP won't wield authoritarian power without electoral mandate.

BJP striving to snatch BMC from Shiv Sena

The BJP is all out to capture power in the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation. The saffron leadership has rectified its earlier error by reappointing Ashish Shekar as the in-charge for BMC elections. Earlier, it had appointed MLA Atul Bhatkalkar who had little knowledge of the civic body. In 2017, under the leadership of Shekar, the party had bagged its highest-ever score — 83 seats in the 227 member BMC body. This time, the party is hoping to snatch power from Shiv Sena. It may not be a coincidence that Sena corporator Yashwant Jadhav's house was raided by the ED for over 72 hours.



Leaders conduct mock drills to prepare for raids

Raids on politicians by central agencies have become a routine affair in Maharashtra so much so that the ruling Maha Vikas Aghadi leaders are taking precautionary measures. The immediate trigger for their panic is the Enforcement Directorate's raid on cabinet minister Nawab Malik. The raid was conducted in the wee hours when everyone was sleeping. In view of all these developments, MVA leaders, particularly those from NCP and Shiv Sena, are conducting mock drills at their home. They are training how to manage the situation, which advocate, leader or relative to be called first so that there won't be any confusion or chaos in the aftermath of a real raid.

Hundreds of Ukraine's most vulnerable flee Russia war

Refugees have serious mental & physical disabilities, and were evacuated from care facilities

BUDAPEST

SOME of the one million people who have fled Russia's devastating war in Ukraine count among society's most vulnerable, unable to decide on their own to flee and needing careful assistance to make the journey to safety.

In the Hungarian town of Zahony on Wednesday, more than 200 Ukrainians with disabilities — residents of two care homes in Ukraine's capital of Kyiv — disembarked into the cold wind on a train station platform after an arduous escape from the violence gripping Ukraine.

The refugees, many of them children, have serious mental and physical disabilities, and were evacuated from their care facilities once the Russian assault on the capital intensified.

"It wasn't safe to stay there, there were rockets, they were shooting at Kyiv," said Larissa Leonidovna, the director of the Svyatoshinksy orphanage in Kyiv. "We spent more than an hour underground during a bombing."

Russia's intensifying attack on Ukraine has forced one million people to leave in what one UN official predicted could become Europe's "biggest refugee crisis this century".

While many of those fleeing are able-bodied adults, choosing to brave long and sometimes dangerous journeys to bring themselves and their families to safety, others are at the mercy of their caregivers to deliver them out of danger. "These children need a lot of attention, they have illnesses and require special care," said Leonidovna, the director of the Kyiv orphanage.

Moving from the train in groups of 30, the children -- also from the Darnytskyy orphanage in Kyiv -- were escorted to buses waiting to take them to Opole, Poland, where they would be settled and receive further care.

"There are 216 people altogether, the children along with their chaperones," said Viktoria Mikolayivna, deputy director of the Darnytskyy home. Cold weather gripping Eastern Europe on Wednesday made conditions even harder for those fleeing into countries neighboring Ukraine.

At the border area of Palanca in southern Moldova, a country that shares a long border with Ukraine, temperatures hovered around freezing and a fresh blanket of snow covered the ground. Mothers with young children came wrapped in blankets and clothing, but the cold weather has made an already desperate situation even worse.

Julia, a 32-year-old mother with a 3-year-old child, tried to calm her son who was burning with fever. She felt helpless, she said, but is proud that she made the decision to help her family. "Thank God that I can protect my family, but I didn't want to leave my country. But I had to find another way to protect my family," she said. AP

Exodus of more than 2% of population

The exodus tallied by the UN refugee agency after one week of Russian fighting is without precedent in this century for its speed and amounted to more than 2% of Ukraine's population. More than half of the refugees — nearly 5,05,000 — have gone to Poland, while more than 1,16,300 have entered Hungary and over 79,300 have crossed into Moldova.

It wasn't safe to stay there (in Ukraine), there were rockets, they were shooting at Kyiv. We spent more than an hour underground during a bombing

US to decide whether to apply sanctions on India

WASHINGTON

US PRESIDENT Joe Biden will decide whether to apply or waive sanctions on India, one of America's key partners, under the CAATSA law for its purchase of the S-400 missile defence system from Russia, a senior administration official has told lawmakers.

The US administration is required under a domestic law, Countering America's Adversaries through Sanctions Act (CAATSA) to impose sanctions on any country that has significant transactions with Iran, North Korea or Russia. CAATSA is a tough US law which authorises the administration to impose sanctions on countries that purchase major defence hardware from Russia in response to Russia's annexation of Crimea in 2014 and its alleged meddling in the 2016 US presidential elections.

Responding to a question on possible CAATSA sanctions on India, Donald Lu, Assistant Secretary of State for South and Central Asia told members of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on the Near East, South Asia, Central Asia, and Counterterrorism on Wednesday that it was for the President Biden to decide whether to apply or waive sanctions on India. "I can assure you that the administration will follow the CAATSA law and fully implement that law and will consult with Congress as we move forward with any of them. What unfortunately I am not able to say is to prejudge the decisions of the President or the (Secretary of State) on the waiver issue or on the sanctions issue, or whether Russia's invasion of Ukraine will bear on that decision," he said.

Lu said that the Biden administration is yet to decide on applying sanctions on India under CAATSA. "India is a really important security partner of ours now. I hope that part of what happens with the extreme criticism that Russia has faced is that India will find it's now time to further distances."

The senior American diplomat said it is going to be very hard for any country to buy major weapon systems from Russia because of the sweeping sanctions now placed on Russian banks. "What we've seen from India in just the last few weeks, is the cancellation of MiG 29 orders, Russian helicopter orders and anti-tank weapon orders," Lu said. PTI

Pak court asks India to appoint lawyer for Kulbhushan Jadhav

ISLAMABAD

A HIGH COURT here on Thursday asked India to appoint a lawyer for death-row prisoner Kulbhushan Jadhav by April 13 to argue his case for a review of his conviction and sentencing by a Pakistani military court.

Jadhav, a 51-year-old retired Indian Navy officer, was sentenced to death by a Pakistani military court on charges of espionage and terrorism in April 2017. India approached the International Court of Justice (ICJ) against Pakistan for denial of consular access to Jadhav and challenging the death sentence. After hearing both sides, the Hague-based ICJ issued a verdict in July, 2019, asking Pakistan to give India consular access to Jadhav and also ensure review of his conviction.

The Islamabad High Court formed a three-member larger bench comprising Chief Justice Athar Minallah, Justice Amir Farooq and Justice Miangul Hassan Aurangzeb in August 2020 which has repeatedly asked India to nominate a lawyer from Pakistan for Jadhav but New Delhi so far refused by insisting that it should be given a chance to appoint an Indian lawyer.

After hearing arguments by Attorney General of Pakistan (AGP) Khalid Javed Khan, the court on Thursday asked India to appoint a lawyer for Jadhav by April 13.

In fact, Khan told the court that India was consciously delaying the case so that it could get a chance to knock at the doors of the ICJ with the complaint that Pakistan was in violation of its judgement to provide an opportunity of review to Jadhav.

In November 2021, Pakistan's Parliament enacted a law to give Jadhav the right to file a review appeal against his conviction by the military court.

The ICJ (Review and Re-consideration) Act of 2021 of Pakistan allowed Jadhav to challenge his conviction in the high court through a review process which was a requirement of the ICJ verdict.

Spokesperson in the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) Arindam Bagchi in November said that Pakistan continues to deny unimpeded and unhindered consular access to Jadhav as mandated by the ICJ. India has repeatedly called upon Pakistan to abide by the letter and spirit of the ICJ judgement. PTI

Legal logjam has stalled a ₹24,713 crore takeover of FRL's assets by RIL | EXPRESS

SC gives FRL, Amazon 10 days to solve dispute

No coercive steps to exacerbate the situation are to be taken, says a source

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

EMBATTLED parties Amazon and Future Retail will initiate a dialogue to break an 18-month long legal logjam that has stalled a ₹24,713 crore takeover of FRL's assets by the country's largest retailer RIL.

The offer for talks was made by Gopal Subramanium, senior counsel of Amazon, and agreed to by Future Retail's lawyer Harish Salve during a hearing in the Supreme Court Thursday.

Amazon's conciliatory move comes in the wake of RIL reportedly taking over 500 retail stores of FRL, which failed to pay rent for the same. A Supreme Court bench headed by CJI NV Ramana gave the parties ten days to thrash out a solution before the next hearing on March 15.

Interestingly, no coercive steps to exacerbate the situation are to be taken by either party during the course of the talks, according to a source present during the hearings.

This would, until March 15, preclude any legal proceedings by Amazon against FRL for allegedly surrendering its stores to RIL while the dispute was still in the courts. No other courts will pass any order till March 15 , as well, said the source. However, existing proceedings in other fora like Delhi HC and NCLAT can continue, he added .

An Amazon spokesperson was not immediately available for comment. TNIE had recently written that Amazon may have to hit the negotiation table given the takeover of Future Retail stores by Reliance Retail.

Thursday's SC hearing pertained to FRL seeking a stay on Singapore arbitration proceedings basis of a CCI order, which suspended its own approval of Amazon's 2019 investment in Future Coupons, giving it an indirect shareholding in FRL. The Singapore International Arbitration Centre's order backing Amazon's stand against the deal, opened the floodgates of legal cases between the two firms with Amazon alleging the RIL -FRL deal violated contractual obligations embedded in its 2019 investment in Future Coupons.

STT more stable revenue source for govt: Experts

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

REVENUE Secretary Tarun Bajaj's recent statement that low tax on capital gains from equities is not justifiable has not gone down well with large equity investors as well as fund managers.

They say capital gains tax on equities is lower than other asset classes because every sale and purchase transaction in equities attracts Securities Transaction Tax (STT), which earns the government more table taxes than capital gains.

Vijay Mantri, co-founder and chief investment strategist in wealth management firm JRL Money, says that the government had opted STT over long-term capital gains in the first place because it is a more stable source of revenue for the government than long-term capital gains, which depends on the equity market performance.

Short-term capital gains from equities are taxed at 15% while long-term capital gains over ₹1 lakh are taxed at 10%. The government levies a 0.1% STT on each equity sale or purchase transactions on exchanges. Short-term capital gains on all other assets are taxed as per an individual's income tax slab, while long-term capital gains are taxed at 20% with indexation benefit.

The government earned ₹17,000 crore as STT in 2020-21, and expects to collect ₹20,000 crore in STTT in 2021-22. The government has collected ₹6,000-8,000 crore as long-term capital gains in 2020-21, and the revenue department sources say they expect ₹60,000-80,000 crore from long-term capital gain in the current financial year.

However, the jump in collection can be attributed to sharp upward movement in equity markets in 2021-22, and experts believe that such flow of capital gains taxes is not possible every year. Industry players also feel higher taxes on equity capital gains may dissuade investors from investing in equity markets.

"This is a tough balancing act between attracting investment and generating revenues for the state. In the long term, (higher) taxes can shape the flow of capital away from a country," says Utkarsh Sinha, managing director, Bexley advisors. Tarun Bajaj has recently questioned the rationale for only 10% tax on long-term capital gains.

IT dept finds Huawei suppressed ₹400 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE Income Tax Department on Thursday informed that in its raid at China's Huawei Technologies last month, it detected suppression of income of Rs. 400 crore.

Without taking the name of the company, the IT department said the group has made inflated payments against receipt of technical services from its related parties outside India. The expenses debited by the assessee company towards receipt of such services are to the tune of ₹129 crore over a period of five years. It was found that, the assessee group has debited more than ₹350 crore in its books of account in recent financial years towards royalty to its related party.

"The search also reveals that one of the group entities engaged in providing software development services, has been disclosing lower net margins from the related parties, by claiming its operation to be of low-end nature. However, the evidence collected during the investigation indicated that this entity has been rendering significant services/ operations of high-end nature. On this aspect, suppression of income of ₹400 crore has been detected," said the IT department.

The Income-tax department on 16 February conducted searches at the three premises of the Chinese tech-giant.

Crude oil at 9-year high; $118 per barrel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE crude oil prices in the international market hit its 9-year high on Thursday as Brent Crude Future was trading around $120.

The rally in oil prices is mainly due to the Ukraine-Russia war and OPEC countries declining to increase production. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) and its allies, including Russia, have opted to maintain a 400,000 barrel per day increase in output in March, ignoring the Ukraine conflict during their negotiations and dismissing consumer demands for additional petroleum. On Thursday Brent Crude futures was trading at $118 per barrel, the highest level since August 2013.

"As expected, OPEC+ displayed unwillingness to ease tight oil markets yet again as it maintained its targeted monthly production increase of 400 k b/d for the month of April 2022," said Kotak Securities.

VIL's board agrees to raise ₹14,500 cr from promoters

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

CASH-strapped telecom operator Vodafone Idea Limited on Thursday informed that its board had approved a proposal to raise ₹14,500 crore from its promoters and investors through equity, warrants and convertible debentures.

Of the total ₹14,500 crore, the telco would raise ₹4,500 crore through issuance of preferential shares to its promoters -- UK's Vodafone Group and India's Aditya Birla Group. An amount of ₹10,000 crore would be raised by way of sale of equity or through a mix of ADR, GDR and FCCBs.

"Issuance of upto 3,38,34,58,645 equity shares of face value of ₹10/- each at an issue price of ₹13.30 per equity share (including a premium of ₹3.30 per equity share), which is at a 10% premium to the floor price of ₹12.08 as per SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, for an aggregate consideration of upto ₹4,500 crores (Rupees four thousand five hundred crore), to Euro Pacific Securities Ltd. and Prime Metals Ltd. (Vodafone Group entities and promoters of the Company), and Oriana Investments Pte. Ltd (Aditya Birla Group entity forming part of the promoter group) on a preferential basis...," said the telco in an exchange filing. The company also approved the issue of equity shares or securities convertible into equity shares, Global Depository Receipts, American Depository Receipts foreign currency convertible bonds, convertible debentures, warrants of up to ₹10,000 crore in one or more tranches. The board has also decided to convene an extraordinary general meeting of the operator on Saturday, March 26, 2022, to approve the fund raising moves.

Recently Bharti Airtel acquired an additional 4.7% stake in Indus Towers from Vodafone Group. The deal was signed on the condition that Vodafone will use the proceeds to invest in cash-strapped Vodafone Idea and the latter will clear its pending dues with Indus Towers. Recently, Vodafone Idea Ltd opted to pay interest of around ₹16,000 crore through preferential shares, which makes the government 35.8% stakeholder in the company.

It continues to lose subscribers to Airtel, Jio. In its third quarter result, VIL reported a consolidated net loss of ₹7,230.9 crore as against a net loss of ₹4,532.1 crore in Q3FY21.

FPI holdings in domestic equities down 2%

New Delhi: The value of foreign portfolio investors' (FPI) holdings in domestic equities reached $654 billion in three months ended December 2021, a drop of nearly 2% from the preceding quarter, according to a Morningstar report. This was largely on the back of a massive sell-off by foreign investors and a correction in the Indian equity markets, especially in the large and mid-cap sectors. "At the end of the quarter ended December 2021, the value of FPI investments in Indian equities fell to $654 billion, lower than $667 billion recorded in the previous quarter, a fall of around 2%," the report noted. As of December 2020, the value of FPI investments in Indian equities had been $518 billion.

Pickrr targets $50 million revenue run rate

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

SAAS-BASED logistics start-up Pickrr aims to close this fiscal year with a $50 million revenue run rate. Pickrr, which was launched in 2015 as an aggregator for all courier companies, is now an enabler of the D2C ecosystem.

When Pickrr was started, Amazon and Flipkart were the dominant players. "Both these brands were spearheading the e-commerce wave and were contributing to the change in customers' buying patterns. However, in the last couple of years, there has been an emergence of D2C brands, which was further accelerated by the pandemic," Gaurav Mangla, CEO, and Co-founder, Pickrr told TNIE.

The start-up is focused on scaling its tech by helping the brands with the last-mile deliveries. With over 75,000 sellers, the start-up is making 3 million shipments every month and assures 1-2 days delivery to the end consumers.

"In 2021, we grew by 3X compared to 2020. We are expecting to grow at the same rate this year as well. We are targeting a $50 million revenue run rate by FY2022," Mangla said.

According to Statista, the logistics market size in India was $250 billion in FY21, and this market would grow to $380 billion in 2025, at a CAGR of 10-12%

Pickrr, which operates in 20 cities, is planning expansion across the country. The start-up recently announced the launch of Pickrr Predict.

"Businesses incur significant losses on return orders without even making a sale. To help the brands reduce the percentage of return-to-origin (RTO) orders, Pickrr Predict provides predictive customer analysis by considering over 50 parameters against every order and identifying their risk percentage," he said.

KHAITANS OF EVEREADY RESIGN FROM BOARD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AFTER being at the helm of India's largest battery and flashlight company for over two decades, the Khaitans are exiting Eveready to make room for the Burmans of FMCG giant Dabur India.

Just two days after the Burmans came up with an open offer for acquiring an additional 26% stake in Eveready Industries for ₹605 crore, the chairman and managing director of the company tendered their resignations from the board.

Aditya Khaitan and Amritanshu Khaitan have tendered their resignations as Non- Executive Director and Chairman and as Managing Director of the Company, respectively, with effect from March 3, 2022. The Burmans have expressed interest in taking over control and 'professionalise' the company.

"The Board at its Meeting held today, has taken the same on record with deep regret and noted and accepted the above resignations, effective the said date and consequent upon the said resignation of the Managing Director," said Eveready in a regulatory filing

It added, "Suvamoy Saha, Joint Managing Director of the Company, will assume the responsibilities as the Managing Director, till such time the same is taken on record by the Board on the recommendation of the Nomination & Remuneration Committee of the Board, at its meetings to be convened shortly."

Open offer for additional 26% stake

The Burman group made a ₹604.76-cr open offer to acquire around 1.89 cr shares of Eveready, representing 26% of the expanded voting share capital

Eveready had been under the control of the Khaitan group for decades after it acquired Union Carbide India (renamed Eveready Industries India) in 1993. However, in recent years, the Kolkata based Group faced multiple headwinds. Its shareholding plunged to just 4.8% from 44.1% over the past two years as the promoter group defaulted on repayments and lenders sold shares of Eveready pledged with them against borrowings.

The Burman group, through various entities had on Monday made a ₹604.76-crore open offer to acquire around 1.89 crore shares of Eveready Industries, representing 26% of the expanded voting share capital, at a price of ₹320 per share, payable in cash. Earlier, the Burman group, through its entities held 19.84% stake in the firm.

RELIANCE Industries Limited (RIL) on Thursday informed that it has entered into an agreement to create a joint venture (JV) with US-based Sanmina Corp to manufacture electronics in India.

The joint venture will prioritize high technology infrastructure hardware, for growth markets, and across industries such as communications networking (5G, cloud infrastructure, hyperscale data centers), medical and healthcare systems, industrial and cleantech, and defense and aerospace.

"Sanmina Corporation (Sanmina) and Reliance Strategic Business Ventures Limited (RSBVL) announced that they have entered into an agreement to create a joint venture through an investment in Sanmina's existing Indian entity," said RIL in a statement. As per the deal, RSBVL will hold 50.1% equity stake in the joint venture entity with Sanmina owning the remaining 49.9%. RSBVL will achieve this ownership primarily through an investment of up to ₹1,670 crore in new shares in Sanmina's existing Indian entity, while Sanmina will contribute its existing contract manufacturing business. As a result, the joint venture will be capitalized with over $200 million of cash to fund growth. Aviation Industry may incur loss up to ₹42k cr in two years

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HIT by covid-19 pandemic and steep rise in jet fuel prices, aviation industry's losses can peak up to ₹42,000 crore in two financial years.

According to credit ratings agency ICRA, the Indian aviation industry is expected to report a net loss of ₹25,000-26,000 crore in FY2022 while the same may moderate to ₹14,000-16,000 crore in FY2023. In FY21, Airlines in India (excluding SpiceJet) suffered cumulative losses of ₹15,086.3 crore.

This estimate comes even as India's largest carrier IndiGo and Gurgaon-based SpiceJet bounced back to profitability in the December Quarter. However, the disruption caused by the omicron variant of coronavirus, especially in the month of January, is expected to weigh heavily on the airline in Q4FY22. The other factor that has become a big headache for the sector is the continuous rise in jet fuel prices. On March 1, Aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices were hiked by another 3.3% to a record high of ₹93,530.66 per kilolitre in Delhi.

This is the fifth hike in jet fuel prices in CY 2022 and going by the current geo-political tensions, ATF prices, which account for 35-40% operational cost for an airline, may rise more in near future. Suprio Banerjee, Vice President and Sector Head, ICRA Limited, says that elevated ATF prices (higher by 68% on Y-o-Y basis in 11M FY2022) and continued fare caps continue to pose a major challenge for the profitability of the airlines.

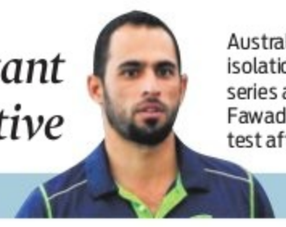
Oz spin bowling consultant Fawad tests Covid positive



Australia's spin bowling consultant Fawad Ahmed has been forced into isolation after testing positive for Covid-19 ahead of the team's three-Test series against hosts Pakistan, starting on Friday. "Team medical staff ensured Fawad isolated on his arrival at the hotel and he then returned the positive test after showing mild symptoms," Cricket Australia said.

100 REASONS TO CELEBRATE

As Kohli steps out for 100th time, his legacy is intertwined with how he led the team for 7 yrs

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

ON Thursday, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) uploaded an interview of Virat Kohli on bcci.tv. It's 7 minutes and 44 seconds long. Listening to it, Kohli's biggest legacy is hard to miss. He moulded a team in his own image and, in the process, became India's winningest Test captain. The kind of words he uses to describe this journey is telling. Proud. Effort. Culture. Environment. Privilege. Vision. Opportunity. Pride. Empowering. Morals. No, it's not a random word generator.

On the eve of his 100th Test, it's a good time to reflect on what Kohli the cricketer did — forget the runs, the centuries and the No 1 ranking — to inspire a team to historic highs, . He put in place a new culture, helped in creating an elite all-terrain bowling unit and refused to back down. The whole collective became an attack dog under him and nowhere was this more evident than in the final day mayhem at Lord's last year. On a relatively docile track, Kohli gathered his players and asked them to make England feel like 'hell' for all 60 overs. For most of the 99 Tests, the opposition has always felt like 'hell' around him.

There was a time when many thought Kohli wouldn't be able to crack Tests. The underlying numbers, they argued, meant he was always going to be a liability in this format. After his first 11 innings, he was averaging 21.27. On a nightmare tour of Australia, while others wilted, the future skipper stood up. His first century might have come in a losing cause but it was also a coming of age knock. One prominent cricketer-turned-pundit had wanted the team management to give him one extra match to 'be sure he does not belong'. Instead, Kohli not only showed he belonged, that was the beginning of a new way of playing Test cricket.

There was the suicidal-yet-thrilling final day chase at Adelaide in 2014 when a then young skipper put the fear of God among the Australians with his devil-may-care century. There was the attack dog mentality against the same opponents in Bengaluru while defending 188.

There was grinding England to a pulp in 2016. South Africa were flattened twice in the space of four years at home. What made these wins all the more special was that Kohli was driving his team with the bat and also marshalling his bowlers effectively on the field. That's why, it's hard to divorce his captaincy from his batting. The energy he got from doing one aspect of his job genuinely fed into the other aspect of his job.

It was a roller-coaster ride that changed the face of the red-ball team from also-rans to GOATness. "I have given my heart and soul to this format," he says in that bcci interview. "It feels great that I was able to contribute to my environment and the culture in bigger ways... If you have an impact on your environment, it's a matter of pride."

IT'S SHOWTIME

After being postponed because of the pandemic, the 2022 ODI World Cup is finally beginning on Friday with hosts New Zealand taking on West Indies in the opening game. A look how the teams have stacked up and India's schedule...

India's Fixtures

Team	Date	Vs	Team	Date	Vs	Team	Date
Vs PAK	Mar 6	Vs NZ		Mar 10	Vs ENG		Mar 16	Vs BAN	Mar 22
		Vs WI		Mar 12	Vs AUS		Mar 19	Vs SA	Mar 27

● SEMIFINALS: MAR 30, 31 ● FINAL: APRIL 3 ● LIVE ON HOT STAR

Full circle for hosts?

CAPTAIN- SOPHIE DEVINE

Apart from England and Australia, New Zealand are the only side to have won the World Cup (at home in 2000). 22 years later, with the tournament coming back to their shores, could this be fairy tale circle for New Zealand?

The ODI Juggernaut

CAPTAIN- MEG LANNING

Australia have a ridiculous W/L ratio of 15.5 since Harmanpreet Kaur oust them in 2017 World Cup semi-final. Wouldn't be an overstatement to say that another effort like Kaur will be required to stop them from winning it this time.

Defending Champions

CAPTAIN- HEATHER KNIGHT

The 2017 World Cup seems like a long time ago, and yet England are still the defending champions. They have retained most of that squad with a mix of youth. It would be a huge upset if they do not make it to the top four.

The First-timers

CAPTAIN- NIGAR SULTANA

If the 2020 T20 World Cup was about the emergence of Thailand, all eyes will be on Bangladesh as they make their debut, with Nigar Sultana leading them. Having made their debut in the format in 2011, they side will look to make a mark at the biggest stage.

Proteas - Dark horses?

CAPTAIN- SUNE LUUS

Despite the absence of their skipper Dane van Niekerk, South Africa are among the teams to beat in this World Cup. They have several experienced match-winners in the squad who could rally around and make it a memorable tournament for them.

Rising above the radar

CAPTAIN - STAFANIE TAYLOR

Since that glorious evening at Eden Gardens where they won the 2016 T20 World Cup, West Indies have had a prolonged lull as their batting has struggled to make an impact. But it seems like they have found a balance with Deandra Dottin at top and Hayley Matthews in middle. They could spring a surprise.

Stalwarts' Swansong?

CAPTAIN- MITHALI RAJ

Apart from the 2013 edition, India have always done well in ICC events irrespective of their bilateral record. Despite their flaws in the squad, this time should be no different as the 2017 World Cup finalists aim to go one step further and finish on a high for the two legends, Mithali and Jhulan Goswami, in the side.

Burying ghosts of past

CAPTAIN- BISMAH MAROOF

Bismah Maroof is back from maternity break to lead the subcontinent team, who in the past haven't had great history in global events. But this time, there are quite a few exciting talents like Aliya Riaz and Fatima Sana playing their first Cup. They could cause an upset or two over the next month.

India get favourable draw

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

AGAINST winnable opposition, India have come up a cropper in a few Davis Cup ties over the last few years. Saying that, the hosts once again hold all the aces against Denmark in their two-day Davis Cup World Group I playoffs. The fast and low grass courts of the Delhi Gymkhana will favour the hosts who will be spearheaded by Ramkumar Ramanathan, the best player on show across both sides going by rankings.

That India has got the draw they wanted further tilts the advantage. Ramkumar, the world No 170, opens the tie against Christian Sigsgaard, the world No 824, who has only three tour level wins in his career. In the absence of Holger Rune (world No 88), this is a great chance for the Rohit Rajpal-led team to avoid dropping to World Group 2 for the first time ever.

"Ramkumar can hopefully get us off to a good start," captain Rajpal said. That's something the team has been wanting a last few years but the singles players they picked haven't delivered. Here's a small sample size. In September 2021, Prajnesh Gunneswaran lost to the lesser-ranked Otto Virtanen despite getting the draw they wanted. In March 2020, Gunneswaran, again facing the lesser-ranked Borna Gojo, lost. In fact, since the beginning of 2018, India have picked up an opening day point only once in five ties (Pakistan).

The other player who will be in action on Friday from an Indian perspective is Yuki Bhambri. In terms of rankings, Bhambri maybe a lesser player when compared to Gunneswaran, but that doesn't take into consideration the myriad injury problems he has suffered. That's reflected in a startling stat: the 29-year-old, who reached a career-high of 83, hasn't featured in the Davis Cup since 2017 (Canada).

Padikkal puts K'taka in strong position

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHEN Devdutt Padikkal took strike against Puducherry bowlers early morning on Thursday in Chennai, the southpaw must have been eager to make some good contribution with the bat. In the first two matches, he failed to score big despite some starts while Manish Pandey, Karun Nair, KV Siddharth and R Samarth were amongst the runs.

After being asked to bat first by Puducherry, Karnataka opener Padikkal managed to bring his A game to the table, scoring his maiden first class hundred in style at the SSN College Ground. His unbeaten 161, which comprised 20 fours and two sixes, and Siddharth's 85 played an important role in helping Karnataka end Day 1 on 293/3 at stumps to put Karnataka in a strong position.

Karnataka, who were going at a slow rate initially, lost Samarth and Nair in quick succession with the score reading 39/2. Karnataka were looking for a solid partnership between Padikkal and Siddharth, and they managed to do so with the team reaching 88/2 at lunch.

Post-lunch, it was all about Karnataka, who looked in complete control of the match with Padikkal and Siddharth in full song. They began to deal in boundaries and the Puducherry bowlers could not trouble the batters much.

In fact, Karnataka did not lose a single wicket between the lunch and tea as Padikkal completed his ton during the period as well.

And one expected Siddharth to complete his hundred in the final session of play, but the right-hander fell short by 15 runs. He was dismissed by Sagar P Udeshi in the 78th over. However their 223-run partnership played an important role on Day 1.

After his dismissal, skipper Pandey, who always loves to attack the bowler, looked good for his 33-ball 21 before the close of play.

Cricket Coaching and Beyond, a new-look approach

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

A STATE-OF-THE-ART indoor facility, a spacious gym facility and four unique pitches with different characteristics. These are the things that strike you at Coaching Beyond — a new initiative launched by former India player and head coach Ravi Shastri along with former players Bharat Arun, R Sridhar on Thursday at the St John's Cricket Academy in Secunderabad. While the new facility in Secunderabad was launched on Thursday, the next stop for Cricket Beyond will be in Chennai at the Omega International School. Shastri, Arun and Sridhar, who were part of the Indian team as support staff from 2014-2021, have roped in Dr Kinjal Suratwala to draw up the coaching programme. Suratwala was previously at the National Cricket Academy in Bengaluru. "All of it started during the first lockdown. When there is knowledge, experience and talent and that kind of magnitude around, we thought, when once we finish our term, we should give it back to the grassroot level," Shastri said.

IS 5G TRULY GREEN? OR WILL IT BURN UP MORE RESOURCES?

Idea is that better connectivity will allow more services to move online, reducing energy consumption

CLIMATE CHANGE

BARCELONA: The tech industry has long tried to align with the green movement, though its leaders are often accused of spouting nebulous slogans and making hard-to-test pledges.

The Mobile World Congress, an industry get-together in Barcelona, certainly saw some sloganeering. But Huawei, Orange and industry body GSMA attempted to flesh out some of the green claims made about 5G.

The next-generation mobile network is being rolled out across the globe, with promises of super-fast internet going hand-in-hand with claims of massive benefits for the environment.

Laurence Williams of Sussex university in the UK recently led research assessing the available evidence on the supposed green gains of 5G. He told AFP how the industry's claims stack up.

Jean-Marie Chaufray of Orange hailed power-saving features such as "sleep modes", whereby components are switched off when they are not being used, and more energy efficient antennae and other hardware. He told the MWC that 5G would be "10 times more efficient" than 4G by 2025.

GSMA's Emanuel Kolta boasted that telecoms companies were "among the leading private sector companies" for committing to net-zero goals.

And he marked out the path to achieving those aims through uptake of renewable energy, more efficient batteries and "low-hanging fruit" like using artificial intelligence to enable component shutdowns in less busy periods.

Duan Hao from Huawei flagged up the importance of the so-called enablement effect, which he said would "accelerate digitisation and decarbonisation across industries". The idea is that better connectivity will allow more services and activities to move online, reducing energy consumption from transport and other industries.

Some industry estimates suggest energy saving at a ratio of 10-to-one -- every unit of energy invested in 5G will save 10 more.

Laurence Williams said, "A University of Zurich study puts this ratio closer to three-to-one, primarily from flexible work, smart grids and precision farming. However, others have cautioned that 5G-enabled efficiency improvements may simply lead to the greater consumption of particular goods or services or may only partially substitute for older goods or services -- people may still attend in person meetings and buy physical music alongside teleconferencing and music streaming. Even if 5G does produce enablement effects that exceed its own emissions, it doesn't necessarily follow that network operators could be allowed to achieve lower levels of emissions reductions. Enablement effects are difficult to estimate or measure and clear accounting mechanisms and principles would have to be established to ensure consistency with carbon budgets and climate policy." AFP

> A 2021 benchmarking study from GSMA suggested that looking across 31 networks in 28 diverse countries an average of 46 percent of energy consumption was supplied by renewable sources

FACT OF THE MATTER

Another failed launch in Iran?

SPACE

Iran likely suffered another failed launch of a satellite-carrying rocket while attempting to reinvigorate a program criticized by the West, even as Tehran faces last-minute negotiations with world powers to save its tattered nuclear deal in Vienna. Satellite images from Maxar Technologies seen by AP show scorch marks at a launch pad at Imam Khomeini Spaceport in Iran's rural Semnan province on Sunday. Successful launches typically don't damage rocket gantries because they are lowered prior to takeoff. Iran also usually immediately trumpets launches that reach space on its state-run television channels, and it has a history of not acknowledging failed attempts. It remains unclear what could have caused the blast.

'Flip' phones to make comeback

TECHNOLOGY

Star of the early 2000s, the flip-phone is making a comeback, with the big names of the industry hoping the high-tech new version—the foldable smartphone—is on the verge of going mainstream. As production costs start to fall, analysts expect a ten-fold increase in sales by 2026. Samsung has been the pioneer in the sector, presenting the first foldable smartphone at the Barcelona conference three years ago. The South Korean firm accounted for 87% of foldable phone sales last year according to analysts DSCC. But competition is rising, with companies like China's Oppo muscling in. Its "Find N", currently available only in Asia, has seen "really hot" sales in China, according to the company's head of products.

Mass testing plan 'not helpful': HK expert

COVID

HONG KONG: One of Hong Kong's top coronavirus experts on Thursday joined a growing chorus of criticism over plans to test the entire city, saying doing so during its worst-ever outbreak would have little impact.

The Asian financial hub is registering tens of thousands of new cases each day, overwhelming hospitals and shattering the city's zero-Covid strategy. China has ordered local officials to stamp out the current wave even as studies estimate as many as a quarter of the city's residents may have already been infected.

Authorities plan to test all 7.4 million residents later this month and are scrambling to build a network of isolation camps and temporary hospitals, with China's help, to house the infected. The criticism from Yuen Kwok-yung, a veteran microbiologist who led the city's fight against SARS in 2003, follows multiple other local health experts taking issue with the strategy this week.

Yuen, a key government pandemic adviser, said mass testing can help break transmission chains when there are "only a few dozen or a few hundred cases a day" and has been deployed successfully in mainland China when outbreaks first emerge. "If we are recording over 50,000 new cases every day, I don't think (mass testing) will be very helpful," he told reporters.

Yuen's comments add to a growing gulf between Hong Kong experts and their mainland counterparts, who are increasingly directing the city's fight via a joint task force set up in neighbouring Shenzhen.

China is the only major economy still hewing to a zero-Covid strategy.

Hong Kong authorities have said they still plan to try and isolate infected residents in camps. About 70,000 units are expected to come online in the coming weeks, in requisitioned hotels and public housing as well as camps. But that is a fraction of what would be needed.

On Thursday alone, Hong Kong reported a record 56,827 new infections, bringing the total to nearly 338,000 since the highly transmissible Omicron variant broke through. AFP

CAN'T GO HOME

Cameroon's 'forgotten' war leaves refugees in limbo

CONFLICT

OGOJA, Nigeria: Three years ago, Akor Pelkings fled his home in western Cameroon, where a conflict raged between the security forces and rebels fighting for an independent state.

Today, the 25-year-old is one of 70,000 Cameroonian refugees in Nigeria, wondering in despair when they can return.

Yet they in turn are among a million people uprooted by a conflict which is now in its fifth year yet remains largely forgotten -- even unknown – in the rest of the world.

The violence erupted in 2017, when militants declared an independent state in Cameroon's Northwest and Southwest regions, home to most of the anglophone minority in the majority French-speaking country. Both the separatists and government forces have been accused of atrocities in the fighting, which according to the International Crisis Group (ICG) has killed more than 6,000 people.

Pelkings crossed into Nigeria, finding shelter in one of the refugee camps that have sprung up near the border regions, although they often have less international aid than in other conflict areas. "Why no one cares? Our lives are destroyed, and no one cares. The conflict went to days, to months, now to years," he said.

In dozens of interviews with AFP, Cameroonian refugees in Nigeria described their experience.

A common thread emerged -- a process of darkening fear, which began as neighbours, relatives and supporters of the anglophone secessionist movement were whisked away in police vans and were rarely heard of again.

Gerard Tiko'Or Akenji, who founded an agricultural cooperative at a camp operated by the UN refugee agency in Ogoja, eastern Nigeria, said the intimidation was unprovoked.

"They arrest so many youths from my community," said Akenji, 45, who added that he had been picked up four times from the start of the conflict until he finally fled in March 2019. AFP

UK's OneWeb to suspend all Russia-backed launches

INTERNET

LONDON: Global satellite communications company OneWeb announced on Thursday that its board had voted to suspend all launches from Russia's Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan.

Russia's space agency Roscosmos has sought guarantees from OneWeb and Europe's Arianespace that satellites it plans to launch this year will not be used for military purposes. It also demanded the UK government give up its stake in OneWeb because of what it said was London's "hostile position on Russia". But UK Business Secretary Kwasi Kwarteng late Wednesday said the government was not selling its share and on Thursday welcomed the company's suspension of launches. "The UK Government supports OneWeb's decision," he wrote on Twitter. "In light of Russia's illegal and unprovoked invasion of Ukraine, we are reviewing our participation in all further projects involving Russian collaboration."OneWeb has been working to complete the construction of a constellation of low earth orbit satellites to provide enhanced broadband and other services around the globe. AFP
